The relationship between Clemson's two senior wide receivers, Brian Wofford and Mal Lawyer, began before the two players arrived on Clemson's campus as freshmen. This season the two South Carolina natives are attempting to become the most prolific receiving duo in Clemson history. Both players rank among the top-20 in school history in receptions and reception yardage. Today's Game

by Tim Bourret

Clemson Looks for 2-0 ACC Start

If Clemson can defeat North Carolina on Saturday it would give the Tigers a 2-0 start in the ACC. The Tigers have not been 2-0 in the ACC since the 1988 season when Clemson defeated Georgia Tech 30-13 and Virginia 10-7 in its first two league games of the year. The Tigers lost to Florida State that year in the third game of the year, but the Seminoles weren't in the ACC then. Clemson actually started the year 3-0 in the league.

Clemson's best start in ACC play has been how it finished, an undefeated season. Clemson was last undefeated in league play in 1983, a 7-0 season against ACC teams. Clemson was also 6-0 in 1982 and 1981. The 1967 and 1978 teams were also perfect in league play.

The Tigers play their next seven games against ACC teams before ending the year with archival South Carolina of the SEC. The Tigers opened ACC play with a 33-14 win over Virginia on September 11.

Clemson Schedule Among the Nation's Best

Both Clemson and North Carolina enter Saturday's game with 1-2 records. While both coaching staffs are not satisfied with their respective records, they have faced strong opposition. In fact, according to the latest USA Today/Jeff Sagarin Computer rankings, Clemson has played the second most difficult schedule in the nation, while North Carolina has played the fourth toughest.

Clemson has beaten a top 20 Virginia team (ranked 19th by USA Today at the time of the game with Clemson) and lost to Marshall, now ranked 17th by USA Today, and to Virginia Tech on the road, a team now ranked seventh in the nation by USA Today. North Carolina has beaten Indiana and lost to number-one ranked Florida State and number-24 Virginia.

Of course, Clemson's schedule does not get a lot easier. The Tigers still have to play North Carolina and NC State over the next two weeks, teams who went to bowl games last year, then meet #1 Florida State (Oct. 23) and travel to #12 Georgia Tech (Nov. 13).

Clemson has already played two top 20 teams and there are at least two more on the schedule, Georgia Tech and Florida State. Clemson has played five top 25 teams in a season just once, in 1988. Clemson has faced four top 25 teams five previous seasons, 1956, 1992, 1993, 1996 and 1997. The 1956 season list of opponents actually consisted of all top 20 teams, the only time Clemson has played four top 20 teams in the same season.

Here is a list of the teams that have played the most difficult schedules in the nation according to the Sagarin Computer poll:

Rk	Team	Rating
1.	Central Florida	89.18
2.	Clemson	85.46
3.	Notre Dame	81.84
4.	North Carolina	81.21
5.	West Virginia	80.83
6.	Tennessee	80.64
7.	South Carolina	80.31
8.	Virginia	79.68
9.	Sam Houston State	79.67
10.	Louisiana Tech	79.48

Streeter Has Record Number of Completions

Clemson quarterback Brandon Streeter is on a pace to break many Tiger single season passing records. So far this season, Streeter has completed 74 of 109 passes for 725 yards and two touchdowns. He has completed at least 23 passes in every game and has a 68 percent completion mark, second in the ACC to Georgia Tech's Joe Hamilton.

Streeter tied his own Clemson record for completions when he was 27-43 for 195 yards at Virginia Tech. He also had 27 completions against NC State last year. The native of Gettysburg, PA has 74 completions in just three games, the most completions in any three-game series in Clemson history. He has averaged 249 yards per game in terms of total offense, second in the ACC and 24th in the nation. He is the prime reason Clemson is second in the ACC and 24th in the nation in passing yardage.

Streeter has earned much national respect this year. Against Virginia he was 24-32 for a Clemson record 343 yards and two scores. He broke the Clemson single game passing yardage mark and was named USA Today National Player of the Week. The publication only selects one player from the 114 Division I teams and he was it. In Clemson's loss at Virginia Tech he gained respect for his toughness as he took many hits from Hokies defensive lineman Corey Moore, but hung in for the entire contest.

Over his last six games, Streeter has completed 64 percent of his passes for 230 yards per game and for nine total touchdowns. He is one of the most improved quarterbacks in the nation as compared to his first eight games as the Clemson starter.

Big Week for Robert Carswell

On September 21, Clemson defensive back Robert Carswell was named to the American Football Coaches Association Good Works Team for 1999. The team honors those student-athletes who show exceptional dedication to community service and to the betterment of the communities in which they live.

Carswell, a native of Lithonia, GA, was one of just 11 Division I-A players selected to the team. He is the first Clemson player chosen for the team in its eight-year history. Carswell is one of the leaders of Leadership in Football and Education (LIFE), a group of Clemson football players who mentor and spend recreational time with underprivileged children. He is also a frequent speaker at local churches and elementary schools.

The Stone Mountain High School (GA) product is also an active member of the Clemson Athletes Outreach Program. Last year he received an Atlantic Coast Conference Top Six Award, an honor given to six student-athletes at each ACC school for helping others and volunteering time in the community.

The other 10 Division I-A players chosen to the AFCA Good Works Team were Dan Alexander (Nebraska), Corey Atkins (South Carolina), Wes Counts (Middle Tennessee State), Casey Crawford (Virginia), Haven Fields (Auburn), Curtis Fuller (TCU), Seth Hanson (Kentucky), Grant Irons (Notre Dame), Bill Marsau (Iowa State), and Dulymus McAlister (Mississippi).

Two days after his selection to the Good Works

Team, Carswell had one of the top games of his career. At Virginia Tech, he had the first two interceptions of his career and returned them 37 yards. Both thefts were made in the shadow of Clemson's goal and obviously prohibited certain Virginia Tech scores.

In addition to the interceptions, Carswell had a career high 16 tackles, eight first downs and eight assists. It was the third highest tackle total by a Clemson defensive back in history and just two tackles off the single game high of 18 set by Leomont Evans against Georgia in 1995. For the season, Carswell has 40 tackles, third highest total on the Clemson team. He has had double figures in tackles in every game this season. In addition to his off the field awards, Carswell is regarded as one of the top defensive backs in the nation. He is listed as a preseason Jim Thorpe Award Candidate.

Carswell, who ranked ninth in the nation in total tackles by defensive backs last year, now has 195 tackles for his career and is ahead of the pace set by Terry Kinard, who set a school record for tackles by a defensive back when he had 294 between 1978-82. Carswell now has 10 double digit tackle games in his career, including five in a row.

Clemson Dominates ACC Receiving Leaders

Clemson has three of the top four receivers in the ACC according to the latest league stats. It is safe to say that Clemson has never had three of the top four pass catchers in the league at any time in any season. Rod Gardner leads the ACC and ranks fifth in the country in receptions per game with an 8.7 figure. Brian Wofford is third in the ACC with a 6.7 figure, while Mal Lawyer is fourth with 4.7 catches per game. Only All-American and Heisman Trophy Candidate Peter Warrick of Florida State prohibits Clemson from a clean sweep of the top three places in the league. Warrick has averaged 7.5 receptions per contest.

Adams Top Tackler

Inside linebacker Keith Adams has 44 tackles in three games to lead the Tigers and the ACC in that area. The sophomore had 17 tackles against Virginia

Brandon Streeter has completed 68 percent of his passes this season, the second best mark in the ACC.

Tech, his career high and also added a pair of tackles for loss and a sack. For the year, Adams now has nine tackles for loss and three sacks, one in each game. The Clemson record for consecutive games with a sack is five, set by Chester McGlockton in 1989.

We hate to do this to him, but, Adams is ahead of Anthony Simmons pace in terms of tackles when the current Seattle Seahawks linebacker was a sophomore playing the same position for Clemson. Simmons had just 39 tackles and six tackles for loss through the first three games of his sophomore year. He went on to record a school record 178 tackles that year, including 16 behind the line of scrimmage.

Adams was honored by the league as ACC Defensive Lineman of the Week for his performance against Virginia. He had 16 tackles, including four tackles for loss in Clemson's 33-14 victory.

Second Generation Tiger Fourth in Tackles

Clemson has had a lot of second generation Tiger players over the years, but few have had as big an impact as Clemson linebacker Braxton K. Williams. The sophomore from Greensboro has 25 tackles over the first three games, fourth best on the team. He also has 4-27 in tackles for loss and 3-26 in terms of sacks. He is tied for the team lead in sacks with Keith Adams, and like his classmate and position mate, is just two games away from the Clemson record for consecutive games recording a sack.

Williams is the son of former Clemson running back Braxton Williams, who played on Clemson's 1982 ACC Championship team and was a fullback on Clemson's 9-1-1 Tiger eleven. His son has started all three games this year and has been a model of consistency. He had a career high 10 tackles at Virginia Tech. He had nine tackles against Virginia and was named ACC Defensive Back of the Week.

Williams had a career high nine tackles and provided the Clemson team with the two biggest defensive plays of the victory over the Cavs. In the first period he sacked Virginia QB Dan Ellis and forced a fumble in the process. Clemson recovered and drove for a touchdown. In the second period he dove to keep a loose ball in bounds, allowing Clemson to recover at their own 15 and end an almost certain Cavalier scoring drive. It might be the greatest play in Clemson history that receives no statistical credit.

Two Tigers in Top 25 in Nation in Receiving

One of the greatest examples of Clemson's improvement in the passing game is the existence of two Tiger players among the top 25 pass receivers in the nation. Both Rod Gardner (5th) and Brian Wofford (23rd) are listed in the top 25 in the nation on a receptions per game basis. Clemson has had just five players since 1951 rank in the final top 25 of the nation's pass receivers.

Gardner is fifth in the nation in receptions with 8.7 per game. He has 26 receptions for 271 yards so far this season. He is on pace to catch 95 passes for 994 yards for the season, figures that would be Clemson records for a season. Wofford has 20 receptions in three games for 233 yards. He is on pace to catch 73 passes for the season. The Clemson record for receptions in a season is 70 by Tony Horne in 1997. Thus, both Gardner and Wofford are on pace to break Horne's record.

Clemson is one of just three teams nationally to have two players ranked in the top 25 in the nation in receptions per game. Louisville and Tulane are the other two. Of course, Clemson Head Coach Tommy Bowden came to Clemson from the Green Wave program.

Gardner and Wofford are both gaining yards on those catches. Gardner is 34th in the nation in reception yards per game with a 90.3 figure, while Wofford is 47th with 77.7 yards per game.

Here is a list of Clemson players who have ranked in the final top 25 in the nation in receiving:

Year	Player	Rec/G	Rk
1951	Glenn Smith	*35	19th
1953	Dreher Gaskin	*22	21st
1978	Jerry Butler	4.9	10th
1980	Perry Tuttle	4.8	13th
1997	Tony Horne	6.2	14th

*Receivers ranked on total receptions

Keith Adams leads both Clemson and the ACC in tackles with 44.

Clemson Second in the ACC in Passing

Clemson ranks second in the ACC in passing offense this week with an average of 263.7 yards per game, 24th best in the nation. The Tigers have not led the ACC in passing offense since 1975 and have done it just three times in history. The other years Clemson led the ACC in passing offense were 1969 and 1957. So far this year, Clemson quarterbacks have completed 67 percent of their passes for 791 yards. The Tigers have 79 completions in three games, just six fewer than Florida State has in four games. To the best of our knowledge, Clemson has not led the ACC in passing at any point over the last 20 seasons.

Homecoming Success

Clemson will attempt to enhance an impressive Homecoming record when the Tigers meet North Carolina. The Tigers have a 24-2-2 record on Homecoming since the 1970 season. The only Homecoming losses since 1970 have been against Georgia Tech in 1989 and against Virginia in 1997. Overall, Clemson has a 54-18-3 record on Homecoming dating to 1922 when Clemson played Centre on Homecoming. Clemson had just one ACC win last year, but it was over Maryland on Homecoming.

This will be the fifth time Clemson has met North Carolina on Homecoming. The Tigers are 3-1 against North Carolina in the previous four homecoming meetings, including a 17-10 victory in 1995, the last time Clemson defeated the Tar Heels. The two teams also met at Clemson homecomings in 1960 (24-0 Clemson win), 1962 (17-6 Clemson win), and 1964 (29-0 UNC win).

Clemson, UNC Produce NFL Players

North Carolina and Clemson are two of the big producers of NFL players. In fact, both schools rank in the top seven in the nation in producing NFL draft choices over the last two years combined. North Carolina has had 13 players drafted, tied for the second highest figure in the two-year period, while Clemson has had 11, seventh highest.

The Clemson vs. North Carolina game last year was a defensive struggle. A look to the 1999 NFL draft tells us why. The two teams had 11 defensive players drafted last year, six by Clemson and five by North Carolina. Those were the two highest totals in the nation last year. Florida also had five defensive players drafted to tie the Tar Heels for second behind Clemson. Both schools have been successful producing linebackers over the years and in recent years, Clemson has seven former linebackers in the NFL this year. The list includes Mike Barber with the Indianapolis Colts, Rahim Abdullah with the Cleveland Browns, Levon Kirkland with the Pittsburgh Steelers, Ed McDaniel with the Minnesota Vikings, Anthony Simmons with the Seattle Seahawks, O.J. Childress with the New York Giants and Patrick Sapp with the Arizona Cardinals.

North Carolina linebackers in the NFL include Ebenezer Ekuban of the Dallas Cowboys, Dwight Hollier of the Miami Dolphins, K. Mays of the Minnesota Vikings, and Brian Simmons with the Cincinnati Bengals.

Clemson vs. North Carolina Series

Clemson holds a 29-17-1 advantage in the series with North Carolina that dates to 1897, the second year of football at Clemson. That 1897 game was just the sixth game in Clemson football history and the Tar Heels won the contest 28-0. It was the first game for the Tigers against a team that is currently in the ACC. Obviously the league was not formed until 1953.

Clemson has won nine of the last 13 games and 13 of the last 18 in the series, but North Carolina has won three in a row. This is the first time North Carolina has beaten Clemson three straight since 1969-72 when the Tar Heels won four in a row.

Clemson has six wins over North Carolina when the Tar Heels enter the game as a ranked team. The most shocking took place in 1992 when a Clemson team that would end the season with a 5-6 record, earned a 40-7 victory over 18th-ranked North Carolina. It is the largest margin of victory for Clemson in the series.

Brian Wofford

by Tim Bourret

A visit to the Clemson practice field this past spring revealed to all within earshot that this Tiger coaching staff is intense and demanding. That is especially the case with the offensive coaching staff, who has high demands of all the players, especially senior leaders like Brian Wofford.

But, for Wofford, the transition has been swift because he has been around disciplinarians all his life. Wofford's mother, Janice Littlejohn, has been a strong influence since Brian was a youngster, and still is today, especially when it comes to academics.

"Last spring, I was having trouble with a couple of courses and Bill D'Andrea (director of student-athlete enrichment) called my mom," said Wofford. "She came right over from Spartanburg and we had a talk in his office. That made a statement to me and I pulled up my grades after that."

"Brian didn't even know she was coming," recalled D'Andrea with a smile. "But, she made it clear that she wasn't going to let him sluff off on his grades. When you have parents that care that much about their children and what they are doing academically, my job is easy."

Wofford's disappointing start last spring academically is just a minor blip on the screen. In fact, he has been on the ACC Academic Honor Roll previously in his career and he is on track to graduate this May.

"My top goal this year is not in football, it is graduating in four years," said Wofford. "That means a lot, especially to my mom and my family. To do it in four years without red-shirting and with all the demands football has on your time, is an accomplishment."

"My mom is very academic oriented. She asks me about my schoolwork all the time. Believe me there are no options with her, I will graduate this May."

Ironically, Wofford's football career began when he went against his mother's wishes. As a youth, he was smaller than the other kids his age. He is not the biggest receiver in the world now at just 165 pounds. So, his mother really didn't want him to play football. Finally, with all his friends taking up the game, he took a chance.

"I never played pee wee football, my mother thought I was too small so I didn't play at all until the eighth grade. Then, one day I snuck over to a practice. She was upset when she found out I was playing. It wasn't until coach Rivers (Chip of McCracken Jr. High) called her and convinced her to let me play. My uncle also helped in persuading her. She came to the first game, saw I didn't get hurt and was having fun, so she let me stay on the team."

Mrs. Littlejohn continued to follow Brian's career at the high school level and comes to the Clemson games today. Wofford was a SuperPrep All-American at Spartanburg High School where he ranked among the top 15 receivers in the nation. He caught 46 passes for 923 yards and eight touchdowns in 1995 for Spartanburg's State Championship team. He also had 60 tackles, three interceptions and 10 passes broken up on defense.

While Wofford was one of the best at his position in high school football, he was also a standout on the track. He was the state champion in the 400 meters in the spring of 1996 with a time of 47.9 and ranked third in the 200 meters.

Wofford was named to the 1996 American Track and Field Magazine All-American team and to the National Scholastic Sports Foundation All-America team. He was ranked as the number-one 400-meter man in the southeast in 1996 and was the Silver Medalist at the Golden South Championships that same year in the 400 meters.

With credentials like these, many schools came calling, some for football, some for track, some for both. When it came right down to it, Wofford wanted to remain in state. A recruiting battle between Clemson and South Carolina ensued. After visiting both schools,

Clemson and football won out.

"I like the pageantry and attention of football, that is why I chose it over track. When I came to Clemson I thought I might do both, but football is so demanding and time consuming. If you are going to do a good job, you really have to give it full attention. I have thought about track, I think I could have made a statement here in track, but I would not have been as successful in football."

Wofford lived up to his billing as a freshman, catching 15 passes for 141 yards and a touchdown. He had a solid season by all accounts, but looking back, he wished he had spent the year on the bench.

"The freshman year is hard," recalled Wofford. "Very few players are ready for this level as freshmen. There are so many adjustments that you have to make in football and academically."

The highlight of his freshman year came in the final game of the regular season against South Carolina. It was in that game that Wofford caught his first career touchdown pass. It was a reception that had a special meaning for Wofford.

"My grandfather (Tommy Lee Littlejohn) saw me play just one game at Clemson, against South Carolina my freshman year. That was the game I caught my first touchdown pass. He died the summer after my freshman year. He saw me grow up and went to my games when I was little. He still has an effect on me today. He always told me, 'Brian can do only what Brian can do.' In other words, do your best, but play within yourself. I still follow that today."

While the 1996 season was exciting for Wofford, he still wishes he red-shirted the season. "Looking back, I wish I would have red-shirted. I had a good year and made a contribution to a bowl team, but I certainly would like another year in this offense. When you are a freshman, you want to play. But, by your senior year, you wish you had another year."

Another player who wished he had red-shirted in 1996 is Mal Lawyer, Wofford's teammate at wide receiver of four years and his roommate for the last three. They have developed into leaders of the Clemson offense and one of the top receiving duos in Clemson history. In fact, heading into this week's game with North Carolina, they stand fifth in Clemson history in total catches by classmates. They have far more in common than just statistics.

"I had heard about Mal in the newspapers during high school, then we met at the Shrine Bowl," said Wofford. "We hung out together

This catch in the Virginia game was Wofford's 11th career touchdown reception as a Tiger.

Mal Lawyer

by Brett Sowell

During the final minute of the third quarter against South Carolina in Columbia on November 22, 1997, wide receiver Mal Lawyer sprinted into the Clemson huddle with the play call assistant coach Rick Stockstill had given him just seconds before. With a smile on his face Lawyer said, "Miami."

As the 25-second play clock was winding down Lawyer took a lot of grief from his teammates and friends in the huddle because Miami was a screenplay designed to go to Lawyer.

"In the huddle everything got quiet and I said Miami. Nealon (Greene), T-Horne (Tony Horne), and Brian (Wofford), looked at me and said 'you're scared.' What do you mean I am scared," Lawyer said. "I just told Nealon to throw it low and I would make the catch. I told T-Horne to throw the block and it would be a touchdown." And it was a 15-yard score for the Moncks Corner, SC native. It was his only catch in the 47-21 win over the Gamecocks.

"On the sidelines, Coach Stockstill was even happier than I was. It was the first time that Tony, Brian, and myself all scored a touchdown in the same game," Lawyer added.

The touchdown meant even more to him because it came against South Carolina.

"I think that play has been the biggest play of my career. It was big because Billy Baker of the High School Sports Report told my father that he was telling the South Carolina coaches, 'if you don't get Mal Lawyer it will be a big mistake. One day he is going to score a touchdown against you if you face him.' Which I did," Lawyer stated.

Lawyer grew up a Clemson fan as a youngster. He took a liking to the Tigers more out of spite than anything else. "Growing up in the area I lived in I felt like everybody was a South Carolina fan. My cousin Derrick Major, who is two-years older than me, was a Carolina fan. I always wanted to be against him so I picked Clemson. So after that point I just stuck with Clemson."

When the time came for Lawyer to decide on a college, Lawyer was leaning towards a Tiger rival, Georgia. When Georgia fired Ray Goff, Lawyer decided to come to Tigertown. However, there was more suspense for Lawyer.

"Coming out of high school I was having trouble with my SAT scores. I did not know I passed them until Ellis Johnson (a former Clemson assistant coach) told me. I was shocked when he told me," Lawyer said. "Before I found out I passed, I was thinking that I would have to go to a junior college or a prep school first. So when I found out I made the required score on the SAT I decided to go to Clemson."

During his freshman season, Lawyer saw action in every game with the exception of Florida State. However, he only made one catch. It was an 11-yard reception in the Missouri contest.

"My playing time was very minimal that first year. Coach Stockstill thought that I needed to learn a lot more things. I guess I wasn't mentally ready in his eyes. It was very hard to be thought of as a football star in high school and to come here and stand on the sidelines. I wanted to go in and make plays and feel like I was a part of the team. It was hard to feel those things from the sidelines.

"Coach Stockstill knew what he was doing and I owe him a lot. He did a good job teaching me the fundamentals of coming off the ball and running my routes. I am thankful that he was such a positive influence on me."

Lawyer reflects back and knows that the season was not a total wash. Standing on the sidelines he was given the opportunity to learn from starting wide receivers Tony Horne and Joe Woods. Horne was a first-team All-ACC pick as a specialist and a second-team All-ACC selection at wide receiver in 1997 and now plays for the St. Louis Rams in the NFL.

"When I came in we had receivers like Joe Woods and Tony Horne. I feel as though sitting on the sidelines, watching them practice and play helped me pick up a lot of habits from them.

"I learned from Tony that size doesn't matter. He goes 110 percent in practice and games. He makes things happen with the catch and after the catch. I tried to pick up those things he did well. He is a great blocker, a team player, and left all of his individual goals behind. And most of all he is a great receiver," said Lawyer.

"We still talk every once in a while when he has time. He'll call or I will try to call him. He was more than a close friend, he was like a big brother to me."

Coach Stockstill agrees with Lawyer's sentiments about using that time to grow as a player and a person.

"Mal has made as much improvement as anybody from his freshman year to his senior year," said Stockstill. "All of the things he has accomplished here are a credit to him. He has really matured as a football player and an individual."

Another person that has been a brother like influence on Lawyer, in addition to Horne, is teammate Brian Wofford. A friendship that actually began before the two players arrived at Clemson.

"I met Brian before I came here at the Shrine Bowl. When we were there we sat next to each other at the dinner functions," said Lawyer.

"Brian and I are close. When I came to Clemson I actually knew somebody," said Lawyer. "We just picked back up our friendship that we started at the Shrine Bowl. We do a lot of things together. He is like a brother to me here. We look after each other. If one of us has a problem we will go talk to the other one and ask for advice."

Now the two players have become one of the best receiving duos in Clemson history. Both players rank among the top 20 in school history in both receptions and reception yards. Heading into today's contest the duo has combined for 172 receptions in their careers. The Clemson duo receptions record is 216 by Perry Tuttle (150) and Jerry Gaillard (66).

After only making one catch as a freshman, Lawyer began to help his friend and teammate make an effort to reach the Clemson receiving duo milestones as a sophomore. Both Lawyer and Wofford finished the 1997 season with 28 catches apiece. Lawyer started the season on

Head Coach Tommy Bowden

It hasn't taken long for Tommy Bowden to have an impact on the Clemson program. The combination of his 19 years of experience as an assistant coach, and his unconscionable two-year resume of accomplishments at Tulane has Clemson fans buzzing.

In the first six months since his December 2, 1998 appointment as Clemson's 23rd head coach there have been many testimonies to the excitement surrounding the Clemson program. First, executive suites at Memorial Stadium sold out by the end of February, the earliest sellout of the premium-priced, 100-suite, 3000-seat area in school history.

Second, the Spring Game attracted a record crowd of 16,500 on April 10th. The record crowds continued on the IPTAY meeting circuit in May. In Charleston, 500 people were expected to attend and 800 showed up. Season tickets are over 50,000, up nearly 5,000 over the previous year. On July 1, IPTAY membership reached a record 21,000 and IPTAY donations reached $9.4 million for the first time ever.

An exciting style of play and an undefeated 1998 season certainly has a lot to do with the recruiting success and fan support for his Clemson program. As current Clemson sophomore quarterback Woodrow Dantzler put it, "The numbers they put up in two years at Tulane were amazing. It makes you gasp for air."

The numbers are truly breathtaking. Bowden inherited a Tulane program that had not been to a bowl game since 1987, had not been ranked since 1979, had not finished a season in the top 20 since 1973, had not won a conference championship since 1949 and had not posted a perfect season since 1931. He reached all of those goals in just his second year as the Green Wave's head coach.

In the two seasons he was the head coach at Tulane, he took a team that had been 4-18 in the two years previous to his arrival, and emotionally and numerically reversed the team's fortunes with an 18-4 record, posted an 11-1 conference mark and finished the 1998 season ranked seventh in the nation by both polls. Tulane and Tennessee were the only undefeated teams in college football in 1998.

How did he accomplish so much in so little time? A major factor was the productive, thrilling offense that had fans and opposing defensive coordinators on the edge of their seats. His Tulane team had a 22-game average of 39.7 points, 5.1 touchdowns, 463 yards of total offense, 270.5 yards passing, and 192.6 yards rushing. The Green Wave averaged 6.34 yards per play, and converted on third down 47 percent of the time. His 22-game offensive averages would be Clemson all-time season records in 12 different categories.

Some say the most telling statistic in terms of wins and losses and the most telling statistic when it comes to coaching ability is turnover margin. The Green Wave ranked fifth in the nation in turnover margin each of his two seasons at Tulane.

It didn't take Bowden long to put Tulane back on the college football landscape. In his first year, Tulane was picked last in the preseason polls of Conference USA. But, he led the New Orleans based school to a 7-4 record, a second-place conference standing with just one league loss, and set 33 school records in the process. The five-game improvement was second best in the nation for the 1997 season.

Tulane's accomplishments on offense were noteworthy in 1997, but their offensive charts reached uncharted areas in 1998. Tulane stood as the only school in the nation that averaged over 300 yards per game passing and 200 yards per game rushing. The team ranked fourth in the nation in total offense (507.1 per game) and second in scoring (45.4 points per game). They were 13th in passing and 23rd in rushing.

The Green Wave scored 40 or more points in eight contests last season, including each of the last seven games. In one game the Green Wave scored 72 points and rolled up 704 yards of total offense. They converted 52 percent of their third-down opportunities for the season and had just 11 turnovers in over 800 plays.

The 1998 season saw Tulane post a perfect 11-0 regular season under Bowden, its first perfect regular season since 1931. The Green Wave won Conference USA, its first league title since Tulane won the SEC in 1949.

Bowden's team ranked seventh in the final AP poll and was a mainstay in the polls beginning with the third week of the season. Tulane had not been ranked at any time since 1979 and had not been ranked in a final poll since 1973. After Bowden accepted the job at Clemson, Tulane defeated BYU in the Liberty Bowl, 41-27.

At season's end, Bowden was a finalist for the Bear Bryant Coach of the Year Award, and just about every other award afforded to Division I coaches. His 11-0 record was just the 17th perfect regular season in college football in the decade of the 1990s.

A look to that list reveals two other coaches named Bowden. His father, Florida State Head Coach Bobby Bowden, had a perfect regular season in 1996, while his brother, Terry, posted a perfect regular season in 1993. Obviously, The Bowdens are the first family of college coaching and this "Wonder Years" environment had a lot to do with Tommy Bowden's decision to enter the coaching world.

The fatherly influence of a college coach who is about to reach 300 career wins, also had an influence on other members of the family. Terry has been a head coach at Samford and Auburn, posting a 45-20-2 record at the latter. Terry will serve as an in-studio commentator for ABC's college football package this year. Jeff Bowden is in his fifth year as wide receivers coach at Florida State.

Tommy Bowden began his college football experience as a walk-on wide receiver at West Virginia. He played for his father between 1973-75 and then for Frank Signetti during the 1976 season. As a junior he caught 15 passes for 189 yards and one score.

Bowden remained at West Virginia for the 1977 season and began his coaching career, serving as a graduate assistant on Signetti's staff. His interest in coaching only became more intense after that first year as a GA. His father then hired him as the secondary coach at Florida State for the 1978 season.

That experience confirmed to Bowden that he was in a profession that would be his life's work. The Seminoles posted a 19-4 mark in his two seasons at Florida State, incredibly similar to his 18-4 record in his first two years as a head coach at Tulane.

In 1980, Bowden joined the staff at East Carolina, where he coached for the Spring practice session of 1980. That spring, he moved to Auburn and served as the Tigers running backs coach for the 1980 season. Among the players he coached was James Brooks, who went on to a 13-year NFL career and is still second in Auburn history in rushing.

In 1981, Bowden returned to Tallahassee as the tight ends coach. In three more years at Florida State, the Seminoles posted a 23-12 mark and played in a pair of bowl games. The 1982 team ranked 13th in the final poll and claimed a 9-3 record and a Gator Bowl championship. In Tommy's five years as an assistant coach under Bobby Bowden at Florida State the Seminoles were 42-16.

In 1984, Bowden accepted his first job as a coordinator. He served under Steve Sloan at Duke as the Blue Devils quarterbacks coach and offensive coordinator. It was as the Duke offensive coordinator that Bowden made his first trip to Death Valley as a coach. Among the players Bowden tutored was Anthony Dilweg, who went on to an NFL career.

After three years at Duke, Bowden became the wide receivers coach at Alabama under Bill Curry. It was at Alabama that Bowden refined his offensive coaching prowess under noted offensive mind Homer Smith, then the Alabama Offensive Coordinator.

In 1990, Bowden returned to a coordinator position, serving Kentucky as its offensive coordinator and wide receivers coach. That season he helped the Wildcats to their first upper division SEC finish since 1984.

In 1991, Bowden joined Pat Dye at Auburn. He would remain with the SEC Tigers for six years, his longest stint as a college assistant coach. During his tenure, Auburn was a combined 46-20-2, including a perfect 11-0 season in 1993. Auburn had four Associated Press top 25 seasons, including a number-four ranking in 1993 and a number-nine in 1994. The Tigers were 20-1-1 in 1993-94 combined. Bowden served under his brother Terry Bowden for his last four years at Auburn and the Tigers had a 36-9-1 record with both Bowdens on the staff.

After 19 years as an assistant and nine address changes, Bowden's patience paid off with his selection as Tulane's head coach on December 11, 1996. With 18 wins, over 10,000 yards of offense, and nearly 50 school records later, he became the head coach at Clemson.

Born on July 10, 1954, in Birmingham, AL, Bowden is married to the former Linda Joan White, who he first met when the two were in school together at Morgantown High in West Virginia. The couple has two children, Ryan (17), a tight end on the Daniel High School team in Clemson, and Lauren (14) also a student at Daniel.

The Bowden Family: Tommy, Linda, Lauren, and Ryan.

Trained nurses are on hand during each game. Should a doctor be needed, ask any usher, who knows the seat location of doctors. Ambulances are located at Gates 1, 5, 8, and 13.

WHAT TO DO IF EMERGENCIES ARISE: Please step back and give the organized EMS personnel room to work. Well-intentioned attempts to help by untrained persons interfere with the efficiency of the EMS system.

Most emergencies occurring at the stadium result from pre-existing medical conditions. Bring your medical identification card or wear medical identification jewelry.

INSECT STINGS: Common at outdoor events. Treat immediately with ice and seek medical advice. If allergic, carry a kit from your physician with you.

HOW TO RECOGNIZE A HEART ATTACK: The symptoms of a heart attack vary, but the usual warning signs are:

1. Uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of your chest lasting for two or more minutes.
2. Pain spreading to the shoulders, neck, jaw, arms, or back.
3. Dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea, and/or shortness of breath.

EXPECT A DENIAL: Frequently heart attack victims deny they are having a heart attack. The event is frightening or they don't want the embarrassment of a false alarm. Therefore, they delay getting help by ignoring their symptoms or rationalizing, "It's just indigestion." New therapies have been developed that can minimize heart damage and save lives if treatment begins within the first few hours of symptom onset. "Time is muscle." Get help or get to a hospital immediately.

EMERGENCY CALLS: Emergency calls are received in the Security Booth.

THE STADIUM EMERGENCY PHONE NUMBER IS (864) 656-2999.

RUNNING DOWN

What has been described as, "the most exciting 25 seconds in college football from a color and pageantry standpoint," actually started out as a matter-of-fact entrance, mainly because of necessity.

The first 20,000 seats in Clemson Memorial Stadium were built and ready for use before the 1942 season. Less than a year before Pearl Harbor was bombed and the United States was at war.

The shortest entry into the stadium was a walk down Williamson Road from Fike Field House's dressing rooms to a gate at the top of the hill behind the east end zone. There were no dressing facilities in the west end zone—only a big clock where the hands turned, and a scoreboard, which was operated by hand.

The team would dress at Fike, walk down Williamson Road, come in the gate underneath where the big scoreboard now stands and jog down the hill for its warmup exercises. There was no fanfare, no cannon shot fired, no tiger paw flag, no Tiger Rag played...just the team making its entrance and lining up to do the side straddle hop.

That's pretty much the way things went for the next 25 years.

Either in 1964 or 1965, S.C. Jones, a member of the Clemson class of 1919, made a trip to California. He stopped at a spot in Death Valley, CA, and picked up this white flint rock.

He presented it to Coach Frank Howard as being from Death Valley, CA, to Death Valley, South Carolina."

The rock laid on the floor in Howard's office in Fike for a year or more. One day Howard was cleaning up his office and he told Gene Willimon, who was the executive secretary of IPTAY, to, "take this rock and throw it over the fence, or out in the ditch...do something with it, but get it out of my office."

Willimon didn't think that was the way a rock should be treated. After all, it had been brought 3000 miles by a very sincere Tiger fan.

By the mid-sixties, Memorial Stadium was pretty well living up to its moniker, Death Valley, because of the number of victories that had been recorded there. Actually, the name was first used by the late Lonnie McMillian, head coach at Presbyterian College in Clinton in the 1940s.

McMillian and the other Blue Hose coaches before him used to open the season each year by coming to Clemson. Seldom scoring (24 shut outs in 39 games) and with only three wins and four ties to show for it, his teams were getting killed by the Tigers regularly. In 1948 McMillian made the comment to the press that he was taking his team to play Clemson in Death Valley.

An occasional reference to Memorial Stadium by that name could be heard for the next three or four years, but when Howard started calling it 'Death Valley' in the 1950's, the name took off like wildfire. The Tigers celebrated the 50th season in the 'valley' in 1991.

But getting back to Howard's rock.

The rock was mounted on a pedestal at the top of the hill. It was unveiled September 24, 1966, on a day when Clemson played Virginia. The Tigers were down 18 points with 17 minutes to play and came back to win (40-35) on a 65-yard pass play from Jimmy Addison to Jacky Jackson in the fourth period. That was quite a spectacular debut for that rock.

The team members started rubbing the rock prior to running down the hill September 23, 1967, a day when Clemson defeated Wake Forest, 23-6. Prior to running down the hill that day, Howard told his players: "If you're going to give me 110 percent, you can rub that rock. If you're not, keep your filthy hands off it." Howard told of the incident the next day on his Sunday television show and the story became legend.

When Hootie Ingram succeeded Howard

as head coach prior to the 1970 season, Ingram decided that the team would make its final entrance on the field out of the dressing room in the west end zone. In all home games in 1970 and 1971 and the first four of 1972 when the Tigers did not run down the hill, their record was 6-9. The team decided it wanted to come down the hill once prior to the South Carolina game in 1972. The result, in a cold, freezing rain, was a 7-6 victory when Jimmy Williamson knocked down a two-point conversion attempt which preserved the win.

The Tigers have made the entrance for every home game since 1942, except for the seasons mentioned above—268 times heading into the 1999 season.

After Clemson's final warm-up, the team goes back into its dressing room under the west end zone stands for final game instructions. About 10 minutes before kickoff the team boards two buses, rides around behind the north stands to the east end zone and debarks to the top of the hill behind Howard's Rock.

At the appointed time, the cannon booms and led by a high-flying tiger paw flag, the band forms two lines for the team to run between and strikes up 'Tiger Rag'...The frenzy starts in all sincerity...and usually lasts two and a half to three hours.

It is a tradition that has inspired Clemson players for many years.

IPTAY is widely regarded nationally as the father of Athletic Fundraising. It all started in 1934 and from a private meeting of a small group of Clemson supporters has sprung into an organization that raised a record $9.5 million last year. The organization plays a major role in ensuring that all 19 of the varsity sports at Clemson are given the maximum amount of scholarships offered by the NCAA.

The organization also has helped finance facilities that contribute to the well-being of student-athletes on and off the field. Vickery Hall is a 27,000 square foot facility that houses the tutoring and advising programs for student-athletes. It is a major reason Clemson student-athletes have had their highest cumulative GPA on record for five consecutive semesters.

While IPTAY is primarily concerned with athletic fundraising, the mission of Clemson University has not been overlooked. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Endowment was created to help meet the need for more academic scholarships for non-athletes who are highly qualified academically. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Fund is presently the largest scholarship endowment of its kind at Clemson, currently helping over 30 students at Clemson.

IPTAY Executive Director George Bennett has continued to keep Clemson among the best in the nation in terms of fund-raising by the establishment of the IPTAY Endowment Program. In April of 1994, he kicked off the beginning of the endowment of positions program at the 85th birthday celebration for former Clemson Coach Frank Howard. The endowments are secure with a $100,000 donation paid over a five-year period.

"This is a chance to broaden the horizons of IPTAY," said Bennett. "It gives an individual or a group of people an opportunity to endow a position that meant something during their college days, or to honor a person at a position. The money being endowed is going to secure our future as the interest is used to carry on our program forever."

The first endowment was for the head football coach position to honor the legendary Frank Howard. Howard coached football at Clemson 39 years, 30 as the head coach. During his tenure the Tigers won 165 games, 100 of which were against conference foes. "Former players and friends of Coach Howard made donations over the cost of attending the celebration program and that was enough for the endowment. Their gifts were a way of permanently thanking Coach Howard for all that he did for Clemson.

"Following Coach Howard's birthday party we began to look for an individual to help us support and promote the program and Bill Hudson's name came up. He was an outstanding player at Clemson who has been equally successful in the business world. We went to him and explained the program and its goals and that we were looking for his leadership to help get the program going, and he accepted."

Hudson, a 1956 graduate, was a three-year letter winner at tackle who played professionally for the Montreal Alouettes, the San Diego Chargers, and the Boston Patriots. He earned Pro Bowl honors in 1962. Mr. Hudson sees this program growing into a large part of Clemson's athletic funding. "When other people see information on the endowment program and learn what it is about, this program will grow. Success builds on success. People who are looking to honor a friend or family member now have a great means to do that."

Besides the Hudson's family endowment four other football endowments were made and one manager's position in the first year. Now there are over 70 positions endowed. The goal of the program is to get every position endowed. "From the free safety to the number-three player in women's tennis, we hope to have every position endowed," said Bennett.

"We will likely use the Avenue of Champions as a physical place to honor these people further for the positions they have endowed. That will have plenty of space, so we will be working to have as many endowments across all of our sports.

"The personal satisfaction that they helped Clemson University, specifically the Athletic department, and that they are securing its future are the main reasons for becoming involved."

And with more involvement Clemson will have a very secure future for generations to come.

Tillman Hall

Thomas Green Clemson believed that South Carolina needed an institution of higher education dedicated to science and agriculture. With his belief came the foundation that was laid for Clemson Agricultural College. On April 6, 1888, Thomas Clemson died, leaving most of his estate to the state of South Carolina with the purpose of establishing a college that would teach scientific agriculture and the mechanical arts to the young people of South Carolina.

The college formally opened its doors in 1893 with an enrollment of 446 students. As an all-male military school, the college quickly became recognized across the nation as an important part of the national system of state universities and land-grant colleges. In 1955 Clemson became a civilian co-educational college. As the school expanded its academic offerings and research pursuits, the state Legislature renamed the college Clemson University in 1964.

Today, Clemson is much more than Thomas Clemson could have ever envisioned. The campus is located on 1400 acres of beautiful rolling hills on what once was the plantation of former U.S. Vice-President John C. Calhoun. Landmarks such as Fort Hill, the former home of the Clemsons and the Calhouns, Tillman with its clocktower, the statue of Thomas Green Clemson and the outdoor amphitheater all help retain the air of tradition.

The Clemson Student

*Almost 50 percent of last year's entering freshmen participated in the Advanced Placement program with more than 50 percent receiving credit for one or more courses.

CLEMSON[®]

U N I V E R S I T Y

*There is plenty of room for individual attention in the classroom, Clemson features a student to instructor ratio of 17 to 1.

*Clemson features a competitive student body, and thus a degree that has meaning. Clemson's 1998 entering freshman class achieved an average SAT score of 1145. This score is the highest ever attained by Clemson's entering students and once again leads the state's public colleges and universities.

*Clemson has a mentoring program to help students prepare and compete for Rhodes, Truman, Marshall, or Fulbright Scholarships.

*Clemson's total enrollment of 16,685 represents 50 states and 80 foreign countries.

*More than 450 employers interview Clemson students on campus each year through the University's Career Center.

*The Clemson family includes a mentoring and support network of over 80,000 alumni world-wide.

The Clemson Education

*U.S. News and World Report ranked Clemson the leading national university in South Carolina and 38th among the nation's top public universities.

*Clemson features a diverse curriculum, there are 73 undergraduate degree programs and 74 graduate degrees.

*Average class size is 31 students.

*Clemson's five different colleges include: Agriculture, Forestry, and Life Sciences; Architecture, Arts, and Humanities; Business and Public Affairs; Engineering and Science; and Health, Education, and Human Development.

*With the goal of maintaining the vision of Thomas Clemson, the school continues to place importance on the studies of agriculture, scientific, technological, and business courses. These courses and others help the Clemson student prepare for life in our fast-paced and changing society.

*Calhoun College, the Clemson Honors Program strives to enrich the educational experience of highly motivated, academically talented students by providing opportunities for scholarship and research not ordinarily available to undergraduates. Established in 1962. Calhoun College is the oldest and largest honors program in South Carolina.

Memorial Stadium-Death Valley

Clemson Memorial Stadium has been held in high esteem for many years. Whether it be players from the 1940s and 1950s, opposing players from the 1970s and 1980s, or even professional players in the 1990s, the ambiance of this special setting is what college football is all about.

This year the storied edifice will add to its legend when the first meeting of father and son head coaches (Bowden Bowl I) takes place before a sell-out crowd of over 84,000 fans.

In the 1970s, 1980s and 1990s, various publications have named top 10 stadiums in college football and Clemson Memorial Stadium, affectionately known as "Death Valley," has been a common denominator on those lists.

The facility's mystique is derived from its many traditions, which date to its opening in 1942, the legendary games and players, and Clemson's corresponding rate of success. Clemson has won 199 games in the previous 57 years there (199-78-7) and has won over 70 percent of the contests. Twenty-eight times since 1983, crowds have exceeded 80,000.

The stadium has definitely been good to the Tigers who call it home, but the stadium was constructed against the advice of at least one Clemson coach. Just before head coach Jess Neely left for Rice University after the 1939 season, he gave Clemson a message. "Don't ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. "Put about 10,000 seats behind the Y.M.C.A. That's all you'll ever need".

Instead of following Coach Neely's advice, however, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place would take some clearing-there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

The crews went to work: clearing, cutting, pouring, and forming. Finally, on September 19, 1942, Clemson Memorial Stadium opened with the Tiger football team thrashing Presbyterian College, 32-13. Those 20,000 seats installed for Opening Day would soon grow; and grow and grow. This year Clemson celebrates its 58th year in this outstanding facility.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 40's, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including many football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two members of the football team, A.N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor, and Cameron went on to become a civil engineer in Louisiana.

The building of the stadium did not proceed without a few problems. One day during the clearing of the land, one young football player proudly announced that he was not allergic to poison oak. He then commenced to attack the poison oak with a swing blade, throwing the plants to and fro. The next day, however, the boy was swollen twice his size and had to be put in the hospital.

There are many other stories about the stadium including one stating that Frank Howard put a chew of tobacco in each corner of the stadium as the concrete poured.

Howard said that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems. "About 40 people and I laid sod on the field," he said. "After three weeks, on July 15, we had only gotten halfway through."

"I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far, and I would give them three more week's pay for however long it took. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through. After that it took them three days to do the rest of the field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons."

Howard said that on the day of the first game in the stadium, "the gates were hung at 1:00 pm and we played at 2:00 pm." But that would be all of the construction for a while. Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added and, in 1960, a total of 5,658 West end zone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large end zone, "Green Grass" section, this expansion increased capacity to about 53,000.

Later, upper decks were added to each side of the stadium as crowds swelled-the first one in 1978 and the second in 1983. This increased capacity to over 80,000 which makes it one of the 10 largest on-campus stadiums in the country.

The effect spiraling inflation has had in this century can be dramatically seen in the differences in stadium construction. The original part of the stadium was built at a cost of $125,000 or at $6.25 a seat. The newest upper deck was finished in 1983 at a cost of $13.5 million, or $866 a seat.

Through the years, Memorial Stadium has become known as "Death Valley." It was tagged this by the late Presbyterian coach, Lonnie McMillan. After bringing his P.C. teams to Clemson for years and getting whipped, McMillan said the place was like Death Valley. A few years later the name stuck.

On November 16, 1974 the playing surface was named Frank Howard Field for the legendary coach because of his long service and dedication to the University.

Luckily, the stadium wasn't built behind the Y.

Clemson Traditions

FIRST FRIDAY PARADE

The Clemson football season kicks off each year with the annual First Friday Parade. The once a year event takes place on the Friday afternoon prior to the first home football game. Floats from various fraternities and sororities and other campus organizations are represented in the parade that rolls down highway 93 in front of the President's house in Clemson. The parade culminates at the Amphitheater in the middle of campus where the first Pep Rally of the year takes place.

The Grand Marshall of the Parade is featured at the Pep Rally. Recent Grand Marshals have ranged from former PGA professional Dillard Pruitt, to College Football Hall of Fame legends Jess Neely and Frank Howard, to noted television announcers Brent Musburger and Ara Parseghian.

HOMECOMING

Clemson holds a classic homecoming every year. Displays by fraternities and sororities that are months in the making, are built on Bowman Field the week prior to Homecoming weekend. It is an event that draws alumni and friends of Clemson from all over the country.

The Friday evening prior to the game, Tigerama is held in Death Valley, which is an event that attracts over 35,000 fans. It is widely known as the largest pep rally in the world. The Homecoming Queen and her court are presented in addition to Homecoming skits, a pep rally, and a large and loud fireworks display.

The first homecoming game played at Clemson took place on September 30, 1922 when Clemson met Centre. Clemson has a 54-18-3 record on Homecoming games over the years, a .740 winning percentage, and has outscored the opposition 1,578-976 in those previous 75 games. The average margin of victory is 21 to 12. Clemson has been especially successful on Homecoming in recent years, posting a 24-2-2 record since 1970.

ORANGE PANTS

The tradition of the Clemson team wearing orange pants is new according to tradition standards. The Tigers first wore the all orange uniform for the final game of the 1980 season against South Carolina. Clemson upset the 14th ranked Gamecocks and Heisman Trophy winner George Rogers, 27-6. The victory set the stage for Clemson's National Championship run of 1981.

Overall, Clemson is 32-9 in orange pants since that 1980 game, including a 19-2 record in games played in the month of November. The Tigers had an eight-game winning streak in orange pants snapped in the 1996 Peach Bowl against Louisiana State. Clemson has nine wins over top 20 opponents when wearing orange pants, including the 22-15 National Championship clinching win over Nebraska in the 1982 Orange Bowl.

ROCK, HOWARD'S

When the Clemson team gathers to run down "The Hill", the players first rub Howard's Rock because of the mystical powers it is supposed to give Clemson players. The rock is mounted on a pedestal at the top of the hill and was given to Coach Frank Howard by a friend (S.C. Jones '19) who picked it up in Death Valley, CA. The Rock was first placed on the pedestal at the top of the hill on September 24, 1966, for a game Clemson won 40-35 over Virginia. In that game, the Tigers rallied from 18 points down with 17 minutes to play. The team started rubbing the rock for the first game of 1967, a 23-6 win over Wake Forest on September 23, 1967.

THE TIGER PAW

The Tiger Paw logo has become synonymous with the University's athletic teams since its invention by John Antonio. Antonio was an innovative account executive with Henderson Advertising in Greenville, and prior to the 1970 season, unveiled the Paw as Clemson's new logo. It has shown up all over the country on items owned by Clemson fans from shirts to hats to the now famous "two-dollar bills". Many institutions with a feline as a mascot have used the logo, or an impression of it.

Antonio also came up with the phrase, "Fly the friendly skies of United," when he worked for the Leo Burnette Agency in Chicago. "I've never had a logo or an emblem copied as much as the Tiger Paw," said Antonio, now 69 and living in Greenville.

Antonio still remembers the day he made the presentation of the Tiger Paw to Frank Howard, then the Clemson Athletic Director. "He wasn't saying much at all," recalled Antonio in an article in the Greenville News by Alyce Atkinson on Feb. 16, 1997. "I kind of thought I was losing this fight." At this point Antonio pulled out an orange football helmet with a tiger paw painted on the side.

"Coach Howard's eyes got as big as saucers and he smiled. From there it was downhill. Coach Howard wanted that helmet." Those Tiger paws are still on the Clemson helmets today.

during our freshman year because we played the same position and we were always together.

"He is my best friend. We never fight, we never argue, we have always gotten along. If I have something that he didn't have, and he needed it, I'd give it to him.

"We have always been close off the field, but we really seemed to be tied together in football after the NC State game last year. That was the first time we both had big games together and the first time the media looked at us as a pair that could have an effect on a game." In that contest, Wofford caught a career high nine passes for 128 yards, while Lawyer caught eight for 100 yards. It was the first time in Clemson history that two different receivers had 100-yards in the same game.

Wofford ended the 1998 season with 35 receptions for 535 yards and five touchdowns, leading the team in all three areas. Heading into this season he had 78 catches for over 1000 yards and 10 scores, totals that rank among the top 15 in Clemson history.

He has continued to move up the charts this year. After two games, Wofford ranked in the top 30 in the nation in receptions and reception yardage. No Clemson receiver has ever done that over the course of the season. He had a break out game against Virginia when he caught eight passes for 143 yards and a touchdown. The 143 yards were a career high and 10th highest single game total in Clemson history.

Wofford has been a model of consistency in his career at Clemson. He has caught at least one pass in 30 of the last 31 games and the only game in the stretch he did not catch a pass was against Furman last year when he played just 15 snaps due to injury. He has never missed a game.

Wofford has made consistent improvement throughout his career, as stated by Rick Stockstill, his wide receivers coach for his entire career.

"Brian has been a consistent hard worker since he came to Clemson," said Stockstill. "The area he has made the biggest improvement this year has been with his hands. His overall game has improved, but he really has improved his ability to catch the ball.

"When you look at Brian, he is obviously not that big, but he is tough. He can catch a pass over the middle; he proved that two years ago at NC State when he made a big catch over the middle on our winning drive."

Catching the ball over the middle has been a key for Wofford, especially in this offense. It is not easy, nor something any receiver enjoys, but necessary to be successful. "You can't be shy or you won't get the job done," said Wofford. "I have to use my speed when I go over the middle so I will avoid getting hit full force. I go over the middle, but I don't stay there very long. I try to get outside where there is some running room."

Wofford has been successful getting outside and into the endzone over his career. He currently has 11 touchdowns, seventh best in Clemson history. He is just seven touchdown receptions away from Glenn Smith's all-time record, a mark that has stood since 1951, one of the oldest standards in the Clemson record book.

"I would like to set the career touchdown reception record. What better way to leave, but to break a record that has stood for a long time. Now it won't last long. With this offense, someone is going to catch 20 or 30 touchdown passes, but I would like to have it at least for one year. I would like to leave my mark on Clemson football."

Wofford has left his mark on Clemson football in many other ways. Last year he was named as one of the top Clemson student-athletes in terms of community service, an honor chosen by the ACC in conjunction with D'Andrea's office in Vickery Hall.

Wofford also is one of the top recruiters for the Clemson program, something recruiting coordinator and wide receivers coach Rick Stockstill has known for sometime.

"Brian has given everything he has to Clemson University and is a great representative of the university," said Stockstill. "Last year when we were recruiting Willie Simmons he was the player we picked to be his host for that weekend.

Last year, Wofford was named one of the top Clemson student-athletes in terms of community service by the ACC.

"It is tough to get rising seniors to be hosts because they are many years removed from the recruiting process and don't like to give up a free weekend in the offseason. But, Brian went out of his way to plan out the entire weekend and make Willie's visit enjoyable."

Brian Wofford has left his mark on Clemson University and vice versa. "This has been a great experience. I kid around a lot, but my experience here has been everything I could have hoped for."

Janice Littlejohn will echo those thoughts in May when Brian Wofford accepts his Clemson diploma.

Wofford has caught at least one pass in 30 of the last 31 games.

Mother of the Year

by Libby Kehn and Laura Mosher

Dorothy Skelton, better known as Mama Dot to many members of the Clemson community, has been selected by Tiger Brotherhood as Mother of the Year for 1999. "I feel like I am in a dream world," said Skelton. "To be selected Mother of the Year by Tiger Brotherhood is overwhelming - I feel humble and exhilarated - and wow, what an honor!" In the 50 years Mama Dot has lived in the Clemson area, she has earned the honor of Mother of the Year in the hearts of the Clemson family. Mrs. Skelton follows in her mother's footsteps, as Lucille Corley was named Tiger Brotherhood Mother-of-the-Year in 1967 and 1972.

Born in Greenwood, SC, Dorothy moved to Clemson in 1949 at the age of 12. In the 50 years since moving to Clemson, Mrs. Skelton has watched the school grow from an all-male agricultural college into the fine university it is today. She said "it has been very gratifying through the years to observe the university and community of Clemson work together to provide the best environment possible for our students and the community residents." Some of her most fond memories from her childhood are of attending the ROTC Mothers Day Parade, watching as the Central Spirit Committee organized dances for the students, and attending Clemson football games. After all these years she admits, "it is still thrilling to watch the football team run down the hill."

Mama Dot began her education at Calhoun-Clemson School, which she attended through grade 12. She lettered in high school basketball for five years and graduated as valedictorian of her class. Skelton then attended Furman for one year before making plans to continue her education at Clemson. After becoming engaged to Bob Skelton the following summer of 1956, she continued taking business classes at Clemson. While her husband completed his bachelor's and master's degrees in horticulture at Clemson, Mrs. Skelton worked at Daniel High School and in the Registrar's Office at Clemson.

While her children were in school, Mama Dot attended Clemson as a part-time student, but eventually decided that her "time and energy were most needed at home as a full-time Mom." The Skelton's had four children, each of whom attended Clemson University. When asked whether or not she influenced her children's decision to attend Clemson, Mrs. Skelton replied, "They grew up in Clemson, and we never really talked about much else."

The Skelton's oldest son Bobby and his wife, Joy Davis, each earned two degrees from Clemson. The couple has two children, Ashley, age 14 and Sarah Jo, age 6. Mr. Skelton is currently employed as Assistant Ticket Manager for the Athletic Department at Clemson.

Bill Skelton, the second son of Mama Dot, also received his bachelor's and master's degrees from Clemson. He and his wife, Mary Wencil, a University of North Carolina graduate, have one son, Andrew, age 13, and two daughters, Jean and Julia, ages 5 and 3.

Charlie Skelton, Mama Dot's third son, attended Clemson prior to transferring to the Medical University of South Carolina. Charlie and his wife, Kim Turner Skelton, a graduate of Frances Marion College, have a five-year-old son, Joshua, and a two-year-old daughter, Carlie.

Like her two oldest brothers, Bob and Dot's daughter, Ann Skelton Douglas, and her husband Bobby Douglas, also received two degrees from Clemson. Mr. Douglas is currently working at Vickery Hall as an academic counselor for athletes. The couple has one daughter, Mary, and one son, John, age 5. Clemson would like to wish Mary Douglas a happy ninth birthday as she celebrates it today.

Mama Dot was actively involved in her children's lives while they were growing up. She served as a Cub Scout Den Mother and assisted with Girl Scouts, and also participated in activities at the Clemson YMCA. She was a member of parent support groups at Morrison Elementary, Edwards Junior High, and Daniel High School. Mrs. Skelton continued to be active in her children's college lives, as she held numerous fraternity and sorority events at her home for the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity and the Kappa Delta sorority, of which her children were members.

After raising four children, Mrs. Skelton decided to return to the work force in 1987. She held a number of positions in the Business department at Clemson before accepting the position of administrative assistant in the MBA Office in the College of Business and Public Affairs. Mama Dot especially enjoys the people she meets through her job. "Here at Clemson we have some of the best - very capable, ambitious and intelligent young people - who are full of life and enthusiasm."

What is Tiger Brotherhood?

Tiger Brotherhood is a local, selective, honorary fraternity. It still embraces the same basic tenets as established by its founders, led by Professor John Logan Marshall in 1929. Enamored with ritual, Tiger Brotherhood promotes high standards of social and ethical conduct, while recognizing in its members an earnest devotion to Clemson, coupled with the integrity of character commensurate with a typical Clemson gentleman.

Tiger Brotherhood embodies an unequaled cross-section representation of the Clemson community. Students, faculty, and staff all work with the bonds of brotherhood to champion a closer relationship. One for all and all for one, with Clemson and its many traditions and undying spirit as the central focus, today provides viable, flexible and a continuing forum for ideas and unending service to Clemson.

Mrs. Skelton has been a member of Clemson United Methodist Church for 50 years. She has been a Sunday school teacher, a youth counselor, and a church nursery coordinator for the church. Currently, she serves as chairperson for the Education Work Area at Clemson United Methodist Church, as well as being a member of the Administrative Board, the Council on Ministries, the Disciple Bible Study group, and the Adult Sunday School Discussion Class.

It may seem that Mrs. Dorothy Skelton has too much to do, but her son Bobby assured us, "She's still mom. If her children need something she drops everything and takes care of us." Mrs. Skelton says that all of her life experiences have flavored her outlook on life. Her philosophy is, "Keep God at the center of your life. Love others - treat them with respect, kindness and compassion. Select priorities carefully. Put your best effort into all that you do. Be sincere. Don't forget the past, it is part of you, but always look to the future with hope." Mrs. Skelton's words of wisdom should be a lesson to us all.

We would like to send a special thanks to Mama Dot for her years of commitment to the Clemson family, and a sincere congratulations for being selected by Tiger Brotherhood as the 1999 Mother of the Year.

Men's Swimming & Diving

by Julie Paré

The Clemson men's swimming and diving program enters the 1999-2000 season looking to build upon the respect the team gained at last year's ACC Championships. The Tigers placed second in two relay events at the league meet, swimming the 200 free relay in 1:20.79 and recording a provisional time of 2:59.52 in the 400 free relay. "By placing second in two relays, we proved that we can compete with anyone in the conference," said head coach Bruce Marchionda.

The Tigers return 17 lettermen, including 11 athletes who have recorded times among Clemson's all-time top 10. Fourteen rookies will be added to the mix of returnees to complete this season's squad. "Of our 14 newcomers, 12 will make an immediate impact in the program and help set the standards to get the men's team on the map," said Marchionda. "We really expect the program to move in a positive direction this season."

The sprint free events have been a stronghold for the program the last few years, and Marchionda will look to a group of veterans to lead Clemson in the sprints again this season.

Senior Mike Pridemore and junior Tim Collis rank among the school's leaders in the 50 free. Pridemore has the fifth-fastest time in Clemson history at 20.49, while Collis ranks eighth overall at 20.59. Junior Will Rogers and sophomores Kenny Roberts, Matt Stone and Brett Walker also return after logging outstanding seasons last year. Freshmen Adam Brock (Palm Beach Gardens, FL), Dan DiMarzio (North Canton, OH), Peter Massey (Stratford, CT) and Ryan Pizagno (Margate, NJ) will complete the Tiger sprinters. "All of these freshmen should come in and push the group to be better and better," said Marchionda. "They have the potential for a good showing at the ACC Championships, to prove that they can sprint with anybody in the country."

Roberts and Rogers will also compete in the middle distance events, along with seniors Adam Porter and Chris Moro and sophomore Andy Meek. "We have added freshman Rob Amos (Highlands Ranch, CO), who can have a direct effect in the middle distance events," said Marchionda.

Although the distance events have been a weak spot for the Tigers in the past, Marchionda believes that Meek and Moro will make great strides in the events this season. Senior Wes Morrow and sophomore Joey Tighe will give the team depth in the distance events, while freshmen Amos and Jeff Atteberry (Cincinnati, OH) should have an early impact on the group.

Clemson's top butterfly specialists return from last season. Sophomore Matt Stone led the Tigers with a time of 50.07 in the 100 fly last year, and Morrow paced the team with a time of 1:51.89 in the 200 fly at last year's conference meet. "Morrow will be a mainstay for us in the 200 fly, but we will call upon Pridemore to help in these events as well," said Marchionda.

Sophomores Sean Wallace and Matt Wilson and junior Alejandro Dubreuil led the team in the breaststroke during the 1998-99 season. Wallace's best times of the season, 56.79 in the 100 breast and 2:03.11 in the 200 breast, each ranked fifth on the Tigers' all-time list, while Wilson's top time in the 200 breast, 2:03.02, is third on Clemson's all-time list. Dubreuil recorded a time of 58.56 to place eighth in the 100 breast at the league meet. "We will add freshmen Matt Norman (Vienna, VA) and Josh Williams (Jonesboro, GA) who will immediately push this group toward faster times," said Marchionda.

The backstroke was one of the team's stronger events last season. Collis swam the 100 back in 49.91, the third-fastest time in Clemson history, during the preliminary round of the league championship meet, and Porter placed sixth in the 200 back at the ACC meet with a time of 1:49.86, the fourth-fastest time in Clemson history. "Senior Rob Etheridge, along with Tighe, will provide depth in these events, while freshmen Drew Cleveland (Marietta, GA) and Amos will also be a part of the backstroke group," said Marchionda.

Wilson had an outstanding freshman season last year to lead the Tigers in the Individual Medley. He placed third at the ACC Championships in the 400 IM and had a preliminary time of 3:54.36, the second-fastest time in Clemson history. In the 200 IM, he finished seventh at the league meet and recorded a time of 1:50.16 in the preliminary round to place third on Clemson's all-time list. Etheridge may be called upon to help in the 200

IM, as well. Marchionda believes Atteberry, Dubreuil and Morrow will also help the Tigers in the IM events.

Collis, Etheridge and Walker all swam on the Clemson 200m relay team that set a new school record last season with a time of 1:20.27 at Auburn. Roberts, Collis and Etheridge were members of the 400 free relay that earned a NCAA provisional time of 2:59.52 to place second at the ACC Championships. "We are looking forward to mixing it up at the ACC Championships this year," said Marchionda. "We could be battling for a title."

Juniors Andy Garrett and Chris Anderson return to lead a host of freshmen divers. Garrett placed 12th (363.40) in the one-meter event and 16th (320.00) in the three-meter event at the ACC Championships, while Anderson finished 13th in both events at the league meet. These veterans plus rookies Craig Thomas (Maryville, TN), Nathan Spice (North Olmstead, OH), Mike Harris (Jacksonville, OH) and Jonathan Folds (Lilburn, GA) will look to place even higher in the conference and qualify for the 2000 NCAA Championships.

The Tigers open the season at home on Oct. 30, facing defending ACC Champion Virginia, before travelling to Columbia to take on state-rival South Carolina. "We will swim against tough competition from the very beginning," said Marchionda. Over the December training trip, Clemson will swim at Miami and Florida Atlantic, then travel to North Carolina to begin the second half of the season.

Clemson will host Georgia Tech, Alabama and Virginia Tech before concluding dual meet competition at North Carolina State on February 5. "The men's program has reached the level where we have a legitimate shot of winning any one of our dual meets," said Marchionda. "We may not win all of them, but we are certainly going to be challenging for the victory at each meet. I am looking forward to the schedule this season, and hopefully we will come out with a winning record."

The ACC Championships will be held in Chapel Hill, February 24-26, and Marchionda believes the team will be a contender for one of the top three positions in the league. "The ACC is becoming one of the strongest conferences in the country, with several teams among the top 10 in the nation," he said. "I believe Clemson's program will move in a positive direction this season, thanks to the challenge of competing in such a tough conference."

Matt Wilson finished third at the ACC Championships in the 400 IM. He had a preliminary time of 3:54.36, the second fastest time in Clemson history.

Women's Swimming & Diving

by Julie Paré

The Clemson women's swimming and diving team is looking to take its success to an even higher level during the 1999-2000 season. The team achieved a number-17 national ranking from the Coaches' Association poll last season and finished tied for 36th at the 1999 national championships. The addition of 15 freshmen to the group of 16 veterans brings high expectations for the coming year. Head coach Bruce Marchionda has set two goals for the team this season: to challenge for the ACC Championship and finish among the top 20 teams at the national championship meet.

In the distance freestyle events, the Tigers will depend on several newcomers to fill a void that was left by the loss of All-American Erin Schatz to illness last season. Freshman Courtney Ellis (Seattle, WA) has already recorded a time of 9:52.00 in the 1000 free, which is faster than times any Clemson swimmers have recorded the last two seasons. Rookies Liz Dwors (Fort Lauderdale, FL) and Catherine Blaney (Columbia, SC) will compete in both the distance and middle distance events. "With the addition of these three freshmen and the return of sophomore Emily Hustead, the distance events could turn into a strong suit for us, whereas last year these events were a weak spot for us," said Marchionda.

The middle distance events could prove to be the strongest events for Clemson this season. Senior Meg Davis returns to lead the group after having an outstanding season in the 100 and 200 free (1:51.14 at the ACC Championships) last year, and Hustead will again compete in the 500 free. "The addition of freshmen Jessica Diebel (Jacksonville, FL) and Sarah Keyes (Cincinnati, OH) along with Blaney, Dwors and Ellis will strengthen the team in these events," said Marchionda.

Junior Leslie Anderson and sophomore Caroline Peterson return in the sprint free events. Anderson recorded some of the team's fastest times in the breaststroke and IM events last season and will make the move into the sprint free events for the 1999-2000 season. Freshmen Jenna Burtch (Holland, MI) and Erin Heitz (Ft. Lauderdale, FL) will be added to the nucleus of returnees. "Anderson and Peterson both came on strong at the end of the year last season, and Burtch is coming in with the potential to set some of the fastest times in Clemson history in the sprint free events," said Marchionda. Other freshmen that will add to the team's depth in the sprint events include Krystal Ball (King George, VA), Allison Moore (Palm Beach Gardens, FL), Amber Odvody (Lincoln, NE) and Elise Tieler (Harbor Township, NJ). "In the freestyle events, we're going to be very strong up and down the list from sprints to distances," said Marchionda.

Marchionda will look to several veterans to lead the team in the butterfly events after the graduation of Lisa Bartlett, Amy Suppinger and Kathy Lowry. Sophomore Katie Mizell recorded the fastest times of the season for the team last year in the 100 fly (55.99) and 200 fly (2:02.45) events. Along with Mizell, Marchionda expects Hustead and senior Kendra Kelly to take a major role in the fly events this season. "Senior Erin Cumbie has worked her way up to being a mainstay in the butterfly for us," he said. Other veterans who could fill the spots are sophomore Ginny Kirouac and Peterson in both fly events and Anderson in the 100 fly. Marchionda believes that three freshmen, Mary Brewer (Greensboro, NC), Meghann Clifford (Charlotte, NC) and Thieler, will be important in the fly events this season as well.

The Tigers have won seven ACC titles in backstroke events over the last four years. With the graduation of Jennifer Mihalik, the 1999 ACC Champion in both the 100 and 200 backstroke, Clemson will depend on both veterans and newcomers to keep the Tigers' stronghold on these events at the conference meet. Sophomore Ninz Douglas scored in both events at last season's ACC meet, placing 14th in the 200 back (2:06.38) and 15th in the 100 back (59.17). Kirouac competed in the backstroke last season, recording a season-best time of 2:03.53 in the 200 back at Virginia. Junior Charli Reasons may return to the backstroke events this season after swimming the events as a freshman, then moving to the middle distance and sprint free events last year. Junior Lauren Rafferty has been competing in the breaststroke, but may be called on to make the move to backstroke. "We are also looking for rookies Ball and Brewer to make an impact in these events, along with a few of the returnees so we can continue the tradition we have established in the ACC," said Marchionda.

"We have an outstanding group of breaststrokers coming in," said Marchionda. Keys and Mandy Commons are both breaststroke specialists from Cincinnati, OH. Commons has recorded a time of 1:02.3 in the 100 breast, already a second faster than the Clemson record. Freshman Courtney Ellis (Edmonds, WA) has an Olympic trial cut in the 200 breaststroke. Several veterans will complete the Tigers' breaststroke group. Rafferty led the team in the 100 breast last season with a time of 1:05.17, and junior Leslie Anderson has competed in the events the last two seasons.

The individual medley will be an important event for Clemson this season. Anderson ranks 10th on Clemson's all-time list after recording a time of 2:06.08 in the 200 IM at the 1999 ACC Championships, and Kirouac holds the 10th position on the school's all-time list in the 400 IM with a time of 4:25.06. "Hustead and Rafferty should also help set this group apart in the ACC," said Marchionda. Freshmen Commons and Ellis will complete the Tigers' IM swimmers.

Clemson returns two swimmers, Davis and Peterson, off the 200 free relay team that set the school record with a time of 1:32.53 at the ACC Championships last season. "Our relays should be very interesting because we have a lot of depth to choose from," said Marchionda. "I can list 14 swimmers that have a legitimate shot of competing on the relay teams."

Veteran divers Aly Susterka, Betsy Potter and Michaela Smith were among the leaders in the ACC last season. Potter finished third in the three-meter competition with a score of 426.25 and sixth on the one-meter board with a score of 349.70 at the conference meet, while Smith placed seventh in the one-meter competition (341.95) and eighth in the three-meter competition (387.90). Susterka finished ninth on the three-meter board with 368.35 points at the meet. Marchionda believes freshman Amy Tolley (Bristol, VA) will help set even higher standards for the diving program this season.

Clemson opens the season at home against defending ACC Champion Virginia before facing state-rival South Carolina in Columbia. The Tigers will then face Eastern Michigan, Ohio State and Michigan in East Lansing, MI. "These will be some of the strongest teams in the country," said Marchionda. "This meet will be a good chance to show the Tigers that they can compete with the best in the country." The second part of the schedule will be centered around ACC dual meets, plus dual meets against Alabama and Virginia Tech.

Tiger Band

Tiger Band Flag Line

by Samantha Carruth

Today, the Clemson Tigers face the North Carolina Tar Heels in Death Valley as the traditional homecoming weekend continues. Nowhere is homecoming celebrated quite like it is at Clemson. Homecoming, always a weekend extravaganza of Tiger spirit, dates back to 1922.

All week students have been spending countless hours pumping the floats out on Bowman field. Tigerama was held last night in Death Valley in front of several thousand Clemson students, alumni, and fans. Different organizations participated in the festivities by performing skits and the evening was concluded with a display of fireworks.

The Tiger Band's homecoming performance will begin with Clemson's traditional pregame march. The program will open with the always popular "Orange Bowl March", as it spells the famous script "Tigers". Next follows the crowd favorite, "Tiger Rag". Still dazzling the crowd, Tiger Band sounds "The Washington Post", "God Bless America", and "The Star Spangled Banner" to honor our country. Then, the fans are invited to join in as the band performs the Clemson University Alma Mater.

This leads into the celebrated tradition of the dotting of the "i" in the spelling out of Tigers. Today the honor belongs to Dorothy Skelton, the Tiger Brotherhood Mother of the Year. Mrs. Skelton, mother of four, is currently employed as an administrative assistant in the MBA Office in the College of Business and Public Affairs. Three of her children received degrees from Clemson.

Finally, the band will prepare for "the most exciting 25 seconds in college football". Tiger Band will form a tunnel for the team to pass through as they rush down the hill. Meanwhile, the band will play the "Orange Bowl March" and "Tiger Rag".

During the homecoming half time, Tiger Band will salute alumni in attendance with a show titled "The Best of Times", featuring music by the legendary rock band Styx. Included will be several of their greatest hits such as "A.D. 1928", "Rockin' The Paradise", "Come Sail Away", and "The Best of Times".

Each Tiger Band performance would not have the color and pageantry without the contribution of the Tiger Band Flag Line. The Tiger Band Flag Line has become known as one of the finest college flag lines in the country. Auditions for membership are held each fall prior to the beginning of classes.

This year's members include: Caroline Bland, Cassandra Carnes, Alyson Burk, Krissy Calabrese, Julie Farmer, Shannon Finnegan, LaShanda Glenn, Allison Hennessey, Melissa Jenkinson, Shelby Patterson, Jennifer Rector, Gina Rhodes, Meredith Robillard, Kelly Sanborn, Christy Season, Allison Taylor, Jenny Taylor, Margaret Taylor, Heather Thomas and Jamie Wood.

Carnes, a second year Flag Captain and sixth year Tiger Band Flag Line member, is from Aiken. She is a senior majoring in animal industry.

Robillard, a native of West Springfield, MA, is a junior majoring in ceramic and materials engineering. Robillard, a third year Tiger Band Flag Line member, is also in her second year as a Flag Captain.

Wood is in her first year as a Flag Captain, and her third year as a Tiger Band Flag Line member. She is a native of Lancaster and a senior biochemistry major.

The Flag Line Instructor is Cheryl Hosler. Hosler is in her 8th year as instructor and choreographer of the Tiger Band Flag Line. A former competitive baton twirler, she is a graduate of Ohio State University with a bachelor of fine arts degree in dance performance.

Today, at the conclusion of the halftime show, the Tiger Band Flag Line and the rest of Tiger

THE BEST OF TIMES

A Salute to Styx

Band will be joined on the field by over 150 Tiger Band Alumni from across the country who have returned to Death Valley to shake the southland "one more time" performing "Tiger Rag".

Let us all thank the Tiger Band and staff: Dr. Mark Hosler, Director of Tiger Band; Paul Buyer, Percussion Instructor; Cheryl Hosler, Flag Line/Twirler Instructor; and Tim Willis, Announcer for their constant support and encouragement.

Everyone is invited to attend Tiger Band's annual "Pass-In-Review" concert on Thursday, November 18, at 8 p.m. in the Brooks Theatre.

Remember that you can take home the sounds of Tiger Band by purchasing the group's recently released CD, "Tiger Rag". The CD features 26 famous Tiger fan favorites from the 1997 and 1998 football seasons. It includes "Sock It To 'Em", "Tiger Rag", "Eye of the Tiger", and the Clemson Alma Mater. The CD is available at the Tiger Band Office (119 Brooks Center) for $15. To order by mail send a check (payable to: CUTBA) for $17 ($15 plus $2 for shipping and handling) to: CUTBA c/o Clemson Tiger Band, 119 Brooks Center, Clemson, SC 29634-1505.

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness
Where the Tigers play
Here the sons of dear old Clemson Reign Supreme alway.

Dear old Clemson, we will triumph
And with all our might
That the Tigers roar may echo catches apiece. Lawyer started the season on fire with 22 of his 28 catches coming in the first six games. He pulled down his first career touchdown catch at Georgia Tech.

The 1997 regular season concluded with his "Miami" catch at South Carolina.

Lawyer continued to build on the success he found in 1997 during the 1998 season. He opened the season with three catches for 76 yards in the win over Furman. Three weeks later he finished with what was then a career best 89 reception yards versus Wake Forest.

On Halloween versus NC State, Lawyer made a career high eight catches for 100 yards, a total good enough to eclipse the career high he set against Wake Forest just a few weeks earlier. Included in the eight catches were two touchdowns. He also came up with 81 yards on four kickoff returns to give him 181 all-purpose running yards, another career best. Lawyer concluded the 1998 season by being named the team's most valuable offensive player.

Lawyer's improvement as a player did not come overnight. It was the result of the time and effort he put in to improve himself during the summers at Clemson.

"He has stayed up here every summer throughout his career," commented Stockstill. "Mal did a good job working to improve his strength and his routes. The things he has done are a good example for the freshmen and newcomers on our team. He does everything you ask of him, on and off the field and for me personally, he has been a lot of fun to be around the last four years."

While Stockstill has been with the Clemson program throughout Lawyer's career, Tommy Bowden and the rest of his new staff have not. Lawyer and his teammates have had to make an adjustment to Coach Bowden's practice philosophy.

"It was hard at first adjusting to the new staff because practice is a lot more intense," said Lawyer. "Everybody is really into it. You can't go to practice anymore and have something on your mind. You have to come to practice with the right mindset or you are not going to play. Everything now is really fast paced and you have to really pick it up quick."

Practices have been so intense, that Lawyer says most of his "down time" consists of sitting at home and participating in his favorite past time, watching cartoons on television.

"Since we have the new coaching staff, a lot of times we are too tired to do anything else after practice. So most of the time I just lay in my bed and watch cartoons and ESPN's Sportscenter.

"My favorite cartoon is Dragon Ballz and the good ol' Flinstones. Basically any cartoon that comes on the Cartoon Network, because my TV stays on the Cartoon Network. My father and I would watch Tom & Jerry when I was little," said Lawyer.

Now instead of watching cartoons with Lawyer, his father Samuel Lawyer, Sr. (Mal is Samuel Lawyer, Jr.) follows his son to games wherever he goes. Lawyer is lucky in that both of his parents have been supportive of him throughout his athletic career.

"My parents travel to every game. They have been coming to everything since I started playing little league football, basketball, baseball, and track. They are my biggest fans. I thank them for that because they are always there for me," said Lawyer.

Lawyer's family is important to him and he stated proudly that his two nephews, Jalen (3) and Jaquen (seven months), "are the future of football."

Lawyer is also proud of another family member, J.J. McKelvey. McKelvey is now a freshman linebacker at Clemson thanks in part to the work of his cousin, Mal.

"I went home over break and when I got there I heard that J.J. was going to East Tennessee State. Because our other cousin goes there. When I heard that, I told him no, you need to go to a big school. I told J.J. that I was going to talk with Coach Brad Scott and try to get him in Clemson. I told Coach Scott about him and he went out and got him. Now he is a Tiger." McKelvey is already making an impact as a second-team linebacker this season.

As Lawyer's career at Clemson is coming to a close his biggest goal is to graduate in May with his degree in marketing. If he graduates in May, it means he obtained his degree in four years. His success on the field and in the classroom can be attributed to his philosophy on life. A philosophy that he would like to share with kids everywhere.

"Put God before everything because without Him nothing is possible. Put Him first followed by your parents, school, then girls or whatever. Leave the drugs and alcohol alone," Lawyer emphasized.

Hopefully, today Lawyer will again go to the huddle with a smile on his face knowing that the play is coming to him. If the pass is low and the block is made, Lawyer could be headed for another touchdown.

Lawyer's career high in receptions and reception yardage came against NC State last season when he made eight catches for 100 yards. Included in the eight receptions were two touchdowns.

Strength Training

Clemson fans look forward to seeing tough, hard-nosed football when they come to Death Valley or travel to other schools to watch their Tigers in action. But some of the Tigers' most intense competition and action doesn't take place on autumn Saturday's and it doesn't take place on a field. Take a peek into the Clemson Strength Training Room at almost any time of day, almost any day of the week, at any time of the year, and you will see the Tigers building the foundation for their pursuit of a championship.

Perhaps the most impressive characteristic of the facility is its size. Several years ago, it was enlarged to an astounding 11,000 square feet, making it one of the largest in the nation. Two years ago, it was expanded to 14,000 square feet. The facility boasts two full lines of Nautilus machines and over 12 tons of weights. The large number of machines and free weights allows the weight room to be used by athletes from several other sports at the same time, without anyone having to wait in line at a particular station.

Within the last two years the dumbbell area and leg development areas were expanded as well as the nutrition and hydration area known as the Power Station. The Power Station features the energy and recovery drink to aid each athlete's recovery from intense training.

The plush atmosphere pro-

Clemson recently added a Power Station Supplement Bar in the facility.

vides an interesting contrast to the physical exertion that takes place in the facility. When an athlete enters the etched glass doors, he is greeted by plush, wall-to-wall carpeting, walls lined with mirrors, ceiling fans, and music from a 26-speaker sound system - a worthy backdrop for well over $500,000 worth of state-of-the-art equipment.

Color television monitors are also positioned throughout the facility. These monitors are used for training and instruction, as Tiger strength coaches film the athletes and work with them on form correction.

The strength training staff spends long hours working around the various schedules of each sport and even takes the facility on the road when the Tiger football team plays in a bowl game.

The large staff of four full-time strength coaches, four graduate assistants, numerous student assistants, and volunteers ensures that each football player receives proper instruction on the fundamentals of strength and speed development. Training programs at Clemson are position specific and designed to meet the needs and demands of each athlete. Also, each position is appointed a full-time strength coach that serves as a personal trainer for that particular athlete throughout his career.

Hard core training and competition in the weight room and the annual Ironman Classic will help each athlete reach optimal levels in strength and speed development. The Tiger Strength Training and Nutrition Program helps each athlete to become a complete player.

The Clemson Strength Training Facility has multiple stations for each training exercise. This allows the weight room to be used by athletes from several sports at the same time, without anyone having to wait in line at a particular station.

Global environmental reach. Local environmental protection.

The truest test of any great company is how it improves the quality of life and well being of the local communities it serves. At Safety-Kleen, our record speaks for itself.

We've worked with more than 4,000 cities and towns to get household hazardous wastes out of homes and garages, and away from children. By handling this material in our network of highly engineered facilities, we're diverting it from local landfills and disposing of it in the safest possible way.

Beyond that, we also recycle more than 135 million gallons of oil every year, ensuring that it is managed responsibly and in a manner that protects local water supplies. And because we've invested in the technologies that business needs to protect the environment, local companies can put more of their resources toward expanding and creating new jobs.

We do it all from South Carolina, too, which is where our corporate headquarters is located. Safety-Kleen employs more than 500 professionals in the state, and has an annual economic impact of over $44 million in salaries, income taxes and local vendor support.

As North America's leading provider of recycling, industrial and environmental services, we're providing global solutions to industries worldwide. But even with that size and scope, Safety-Kleen hasn't forgotten that environmental protection - like all the good things in life - begins at home.

"As far as I'm concerned, if your word's no good, nothing else about you is good."

Bill Keels believes that trust is the foundation of any lasting relationship. So it should come as no surprise that he banks with BB&T.

"They aren't on the golf course. They aren't fishing. They're in the bank ready to answer our needs. That sets them apart."

It's just the way we go about business, Bill. When we say we're going to do something, we mean it. Besides, golf is way too frustrating.

Student-Athlete Enrichment Program

Since its inception in 1991, the five-faceted Student-Athlete Enrichment Program has provided its student-athletes a continued commitment to excellence. Our approach is to address the total student-athlete, and we are committed to coaching our student-athletes to success (C.A.T.S.) not only in the athletic arena but in the academic, personal growth, career, and service arenas as well. As an original member of the NCAA Life Skills/CHAMPS Program, we provide opportunities and services to address the changing needs and skills of student-athletes in the years during college and after graduation.

Clemson University's commitment to provide its student-athletes with the very best of facilities is evident in many ways. From the soaring upper decks of Memorial Stadium, to the state-of-the-art strength training facility, young men and women from all 19 of Clemson's varsity sports have the very best in facilities for training and competition. Vickery Hall is no exception, as the $3 million structure is as impressive aesthetically as any of the other facilities. But the importance of Vickery Hall to the Clemson University Athletics Department is not found in the structure itself, but in the many programs that the building houses.

Vickery Hall opened in the spring of 1991 and was the first support facility in the country built solely for the all-around education of student-athletes. The two-story, 27,000 square-foot building is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of student-athletes.

The mission of the Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs is to monitor, guide, and encourage student-athletes to fulfill their long-term goals, and to achieve their academic and career potential.

Vickery Hall focuses on five primary areas to meet the student-athlete's needs.

ACADEMIC COMMITMENT

The academic commitment aspect of Clemson's Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs has provided one of the best academic support and advising programs in the nation.

The proof is in the statistics. A record 181 Clemson student-athletes made the academic honor roll in 1999. The student-athletes had a record 2.71 GPA in the spring of 1999, just .07 from the overall student body GPA of 2.78. Records were also established for number of President's List and Dean's List students.

In the spring of 1999 the Clemson football team posted a team GPA of 2.38, highest on record. Thirteen players were named to the ACC Academic Honor Roll for 1998-99.

The Academic Counselors perform a variety of duties to track academic progress. These duties include providing assistance in registration and priority scheduling, contacting faculty, personally checking classes, recording information, counseling sessions with student-athletes, providing diagnostic testing, and directing career aspirations.

One of the most prestigious programs that has received recognition essential to the growth of Vickery Hall is the tutorial program.

Of the 160 programs certified by CRLA, the Clemson Student-Athlete Enrichment Program is one of three student-athlete programs in the country to be granted a Level 1 certification from the College of Reading and Learning Association, International Tutor Certification Program.

Having tutor certification allows student-athletes to be provided the highest quality of academic assistance possible. Approximately 80 tutors are hired to provide academic support in the many subject areas offered.

Many post-graduate scholarships and internships are also available to student-athletes continuing their education through postgraduate studies. Our student-athletes are provided timely information regarding these opportunities and the resources necessary to assist in the application process for either scholarships or internships.

The Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs has recognized the need for students to have access to high-quality computing equipment and has made a commitment to provide the student-athletes at Clemson with one of the largest computer labs in the country. Located on the first floor of Vickery Hall is the Microcomputer Laboratory. The lab is open seven days a week, for 16 hours on Monday through Thursday, and a limited time on Saturday and Sunday. During exam periods the lab hours are extended.

The lab staff has a full-time computer manager, and also graduate students, many of whom are pursuing advanced degrees in computer science. Lab staff members are available for tutoring of any Computer Science course, as well as the many management, engineering, and business courses that deal with personal computers.

The Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs is committed to providing state-of-the-art computing facilities. New computers have recently been purchased bringing the lab to a state of the art facility. Over 40 computers are available for student-athletes.

All computers are fully connected to the internet allowing access to computers throughout the world for research and communication.

PERSONAL DEVELOPMENT COMMITMENT

One of the most important programs that helps student-athletes reach their full potential and engage successfully in this college experience is the Personal Growth and Development Program.

One of the key components of this program is the first-semester freshman transition class designed to assist the student-athlete in making a successful transition into his/her university and athletic life. All first-semester freshmen attend a semester-long series of workshops targeting the transitional issues of time management, organizational strategies, health and wellness issues, athletic issues, diversity issues, career orientation, and service training. Throughout the academic year, all student-athletes are required to attend four large-group programs, which focus on pertinent social, health, and athletic issues.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT COMMITMENT

The Career Assistance Program provides student-athletes an opportunity to fulfill career aspirations by participating in various career seminars offered by the staff at Vickery Hall. The philosophy of this program is to provide student-athletes with job searching skills and strategies, internships, practical experience, and summer employment. These programs are designed to address specific career opportunities and acquire information about the student-athletes for each year.

By using the resources available to the University, Alumni Center, and the Athletic Department, the staff is working to establish a network of businesses, companies, and executives who will help assist with the Summer Employment Assistance Program. The program's main goal is to provide the student-athletes with job experience and a work history, which he or she can apply to his or her academic discipline.

The Career Assistance Program is coordinated from the academic colleges, the Placement Center, and through the Athletic Department contacts. This program is designed to better prepare the student-athlete for full-time employment and focuses on resume writing and interview techniques.

SERVICE COMMITMENT

Providing community and outreach service to student-athletes and the surrounding community by engaging the student-athletes in hands-on interactive programs is an important aspect of the Student-Athlete Enrichment Programs. The staff of SAEP coordinates various activities each year to engage student-athletes in community outreach projects along with academic programs.

Another aspect of the service commitment is that of community service. The purpose of community service is to allow the student-athletes to become involved with the happenings of the community while giving back at the same time. Each year every team is required to perform at least two community outreach projects. Recently implemented was a new community service program entitled Success Away From the Game. The purpose of this program is to combine athletes of different sports in community outreach programs. By doing this, each outreach program participates, thus creating a diverse group of athletes with new and different ideas. At the end of each year, six student-athletes who have demonstrated outstanding commitment and contributions to the community are recognized as the Top 6 by the ACC.

LIFELine, another aspect of community service, consists of chosen football players who work together in specific community outreach projects. LIFELine has approximately 20 members along with a president, vice president and secretary. Once a month, these young men meet to discuss future projects. To date, they have sponsored Hi-Five Day, planted a garden at Helping Hands Children Shelter, and held reading programs at elementary schools. These young men have vital roles in both the community and the athletic arena.

To assist our student-athletes in becoming effective service leaders and communicators we provide service and speaking training, which anticipates the demands placed on a student-athlete when he/she might be speaking with a group of young people or also speaking with the media.

It's A Beautiful Day In The Neighborhood.

Almost everyone at one time or another has participated in some kind of sport whether it is amateur or college, semi-pro or pro. And as a participant one must work hard and compete at a level that is higher or the same as everyone else if he or she wishes to succeed. One must possess the desire to fulfill his or her dreams and wishes no matter what obstacles are in the way. In any sport, just like life, winning and the desire and will to work hard and win go hand in hand. For Clemson running backs coach Burton Burns the desire and will to work hard and win is as strong today as it ever was. What may slow many other people down has made Burns work that much harder.

Growing up in Louisiana, Burns knew that working hard would get him to where he wanted to be. He grew up watching his father work days and nights coaching at the high school level. It was his father's love for the game and willingness to know his players on and off the field that taught Burns to always try his best in anything he did.

"My father was a big influence on me. I always admired how he worked hard to spend time with the team and with his family," said Burns.

However, the road to success was not going to be easy. As Burns entered high school, the country was going through a dramatic change. During the turbulent 1960's, integration began to become a high priority for everyone involved with education and athletics. For many years high school football had been divided into two leagues, but now things had to be changed. The players and coaches would have to work harder to make everyone feel accepted. Burns realized this and kept working hard to succeed at this level and hopefully the next.

He remembers playing as a freshman in 1967 on a black St. Augustine High School team that was in a white league. For many years high school football had two leagues to accommodate everyone. "My first high school game was the first integrated game in the state of Louisiana. They had two separate leagues for so long and for us to finally break that barrier and work hard and be a part of history is something that I will never forget," said Burns.

As the country slowly began to calm down a bit, things for Burns slowly began to pick up. The dreams and high expectations that Burns had as a child while helping his father, started to become a little more realistic. While playing in a high school bowl game in Mississippi, he was spotted by the coaching staff of Nebraska who were impressed with his skills. The dreams of playing for a major college football program and getting a quality education seemed all too good to be true.

"I wasn't sure what would happen to my career after high school ball. I wasn't sure if college would even be an option. Before my senior year I was not very heavily recruited, but after Nebraska saw me things changed drastically."

The idea of going to college was now something Burns knew was real. During the fall of 1971, Nebraska won its first national championship and the excitement and appeal of playing for such a high class university, team and coaching staff continued to make him work even harder. "Everything about Nebraska was a big time attraction for me. I was very impressed with every aspect of their school and team." What impressed Burns the most was the attitude of the coaches towards the players.

The players were expected to work hard on and off the field, however the coaches also paid special attention to each player's activities off the field. Just like his father had shown he cared about his players off the field, the Nebraska coaches also showed that they cared what their players did not just on but off the field as well. "I remember many nights when my father would bring his players over and talk or have dinner or do something. The Nebraska staff was exactly the same. They showed that they cared about the player not as just a player but as a person too. This has had an affect on me to this day," stated Burns.

Burns continued to work hard on and off the field once he made it to Nebraska. He played on three Cornhusker teams that won at least nine games. During his career as a Cornhusker full-back he saw action in the Orange, Cotton and Sugar Bowls all under the leadership of Hall of Fame coach Tom Osborne. "Coach Osborne had a big affect on me while I was at Nebraska. The first year I played he was just an assistant, but I still remember many nights where he would show up in study hall and help us with whatever we needed. It only got better once he became head coach."

Burns had over come a lot of adversity to get to Nebraska, but his dreams of playing at the next level were not to be. Although his high school and college careers had been successful, it seemed almost impossible that he could overcome a knee injury and fulfill his dream. "The knee injury was a big disappointment, but I still got my B.S. in education from Nebraska and I still felt very fortunate to have had the chance to learn both on and off the field under a great coaching staff at such a high class university."

After Nebraska coach Burns continued to work hard and was given the opportunity to become the assistant head coach and offensive coordinator for his high school alma mater thanks to head coach Otis Washington. From 1977 to 1979, Burns took what he had learned from his father and Osborne and used it to help lead the St. Augustine Purple Knights to three district titles and back-to-back Class AAAA state championships in 1978 and 1979.

After his stay at St. Augustine Burns landed an assistant coaching job on a district championship team at Booker T. Washington High School.

The following year Burns once again teamed up with Washington at Southern University. "I owe a lot of thanks to coach Washington. He gave me my first job at the high school and college levels. Just like my dad and coach Osborne, he taught me things that I will never forget," said Burns. During his five-year stint at Southern, the Jaguars finished in the top two of the Southwestern Athletic Conference on three occasions. Burns would return to his alma mater for a second term that would give the St. Augustine Purple Knights three more district titles in 1987, 1992, and 1993.

After the second stay at St. Augustine, Burns began to focus on the job coach Tommy Bowden had given him as running backs coach at Tulane. "Coach Bowden didn't know me any more than anyone else, but he still saw the potential for me to be a coach at the college level. I owe a lot to him and all the great coaches who taught me so much as a player and coach."

The two seasons he and Bowden spent at Tulane were very productive and in 1998 the team finished 12-0 and was ranked 7th at the end of the season. Burns' running backs also worked hard in 1998 as the Tulane ground attack ended the year ranked 23rd nationally, averaging 202.4 yards per game.

Burns has continued to coach his players to work hard and never give up. This philosophy is very evident, as several of his players have gone on to the NFL including Jerald Sowell, whom he coached at Tulane. He is living proof that the desire and will to win go hand in hand with success on and off the field.

Jack Hines

by Jacob Barker

Jack Hines is the new defensive backs coach at Clemson, and over the years he has become very familiar with one of college football's most famous families, the Bowdens. During his coaching career, he has learned the intricacies of football from the likes of Bobby, Terry and Tommy Bowden. Although each of these men have played an important role in Hines' development as a coach, it was another Bowden that first grabbed his attention.

While practicing football one afternoon as a student at Morgantown High School in West Virginia, Hines noticed a girl that he had never seen before checking into the high school. The girl was Robyn Bowden, daughter of Bobby Bowden. He and Robyn were introduced, and eight years later they married. The two have been married for 25 years, and throughout this time Robyn has been Hines' biggest supporter. "She was a cheerleader in college and she is probably my biggest cheerleader now."

Although they met even before Robyn's father had become a household name, her sense for the game of football has always amazed Hines. "She is pretty knowledgeable about the game because she has been around it all her life. She knows when to leave me alone, and when to get on me," Hines said.

Hines attended college at West Virginia University where during his freshman year he played basketball for the Mountaineers. The following year, Bobby Bowden was named head football coach at West Virginia. Due to injuries in the Mountaineer secondary, coach Bowden encouraged Hines to come out for the football team. It was then that Hines decided to give up basketball for the chance to compete on the gridiron. "I simply felt there was a better future for me in football than in basketball," Hines said.

Hines lettered three years as a defensive back at West Virginia, and in 1971 graduated with a bachelor's of science degree in physical education. Upon graduation from West Virginia, he was unsure of his future career path. "Initially when I graduated from college I wanted to be a college professor. I decided, though, that spending my time doing research was not going to be as fun as working with athletes."

Due to his intense passion for athletics, Hines decided to enter the world of coaching. For the next six years he served as assistant coach at Morgantown High School.

In 1980, Hines returned to West Virginia where he served as a volunteer assistant and received a master's degree in physical education.

In 1985, Hines was reunited with Bobby Bowden at Florida State. He served as a graduate assistant coach for the next two years while he pursued a specialist education degree in athletic administration. While at Florida State, he coached current NFL star Deion Sanders.

After earning his specialist degree from Florida State in 1986, Hines went to Samford College in Alabama where he worked as defensive coordinator and defensive backs coach over the next five years.

In 1993, Hines was hired under Terry Bowden to coach the defensive backs at Auburn. During the 1993 season, his defensive backs helped lead Auburn to a perfect 11-0 record and a number-four ranking in the final Associated Press poll.

"I was leaving church one Sunday and a guy grabbed me by the arm and said, 'Did you see that Robert Hines boy play ball Friday night? He's the best athlete we've had around Auburn for a long time,' Terry Bowden said.

"It's kind of funny, because when Tommy and I were growing up in Morgantown (WV) they said the same thing about Robert's dad, Jack. Jack Hines was a star in every sport he played in high school and went on to start for my father at West Virginia. Things haven't changed much in the Hines family.

"Jack was an assistant coach for me for 12 years, most of those as the coordinator. Our first three years at Auburn we broke a lot of records on defense for interceptions. Jack was the coach for the best years in Auburn history by the secondary. He will do a great job at Clemson," stated Bowden.

During the 1994 season, the Auburn secondary picked off 22 passes, the fourth highest total in school history. In a game against LSU in 1994, Auburn intercepted five fourth quarter passes and returned three of them for touchdowns en route to a 30-26 win. During his first two seasons at Auburn, the Tigers returned eight interceptions for touchdowns.

While at Auburn, Hines coached future Arizona Cardinal Dell McGee, consensus first-team All-American Brian Robinson, and 1995 Co-SEC Freshman Defensive Player-of-the-Year Martavious Houston. He also coached current Cincinnati Bengal and former All-American Takeo Spikes.

During the last three seasons at Auburn, Hines served as inside linebackers coach and worked along side current Clemson defensive ends coach Rodney Allison.

Early in the 1999 season, the Clemson defensive backs have shown tremendous improvement under Hines. With two seniors, a junior, and a sophomore starting in the secondary, Hines has done an excellent job of molding experience with youth. Sophomore cornerback Alex Ardley is quick to point out how Hines' coaching philosophy has allowed him to become more comfortable as a player. "Coach Hines stresses that we must have short memory in order to play in the secondary. No matter what happens, he tells us to come back that much harder on the next play."

When it comes to coaching football, Hines is all business. He is a quiet guy off the field, but Ardley says don't let that fool you. "He is pretty reserved on the field too, but he can get very loud when he needs to."

His no nonsense approach to football is evident when questioned about his favorite hobby. Hines is a passionate golfer, often firing rounds in the mid 70's. During football season, however, you will not find him anywhere near the driving range. "I don't play golf from August through February. When the end of recruiting comes, then I might think about picking up the clubs again. I am totally involved with football this time of year. There is no time for golf now."

Although Hines has enjoyed early success in his first season at Clemson, the transition has been difficult for his biggest fan, Robyn. For the past year she has remained in Auburn with their two children Robert and Jacquelyn. She spends Friday nights watching Robert compete on the football field as a senior at Auburn High School. Her weekends are spent traveling across the country with Jacquelyn's soccer team. "Between Robert's games on Friday nights and Jacquelyn's games on the weekends, Robyn is not able to be at any of our football games here. That has probably been the hardest part for her right now."

After Robert's graduation from high school next year, Robyn and Jacquelyn will make the move to Clemson in time for the next football season. For now, Hines will continue business as usual in order to ensure that his defensive back are prepared to meet the challenges of the 1999 season.

Men's Track & Field

by Julie Paré

The 1998-99 season proved to be another successful year for the Clemson men's track and field program.

The team won its third-straight ACC indoor title, then placed third at the NCAA Championships behind the national champions of then-freshman Ato Modibo in the 400m and the 4x400m relay team of Charles Allen, Kenny Franklin, Davidson Gill and Modibo.

In the outdoor season Clemson was the runner-up in the ACC, then placed 19th at the national championships. The team set a new Clemson record with 12 All-Americans. Between the indoor and outdoor seasons, Clemson earned 19 All-American awards.

Under the direction of head coach Bob Pollock, now in his 12th year at Clemson, and first year assistant coaches Charles Foster and Jarrett Foster, the team is looking to build on the foundation that has been laid over the last several years. "We want to be competitive not only at the ACC level, but also at the national level, because it is ultimately our goal to be contenders for a national title," said Pollock.

With the departure of seniors Joe Gibson and Esteban Diaz, the front runners on last year's cross country team, this season's team will be a young one, with senior Steve Alexander surrounded by a group of freshmen and sophomores. Alexander ran in the sixth position last season, but Pollock expects him to be among the Tigers' top four distance runners this year.

Jason Meany will lead the returning sophomores. He was Clemson's number three runner last season and is leading the team this year. Sophomores Ryan Demers and B.J. Dillard will complete the Tigers' top four distance runners.

Sophomore Clay Wiggins is expected to run in the fifth position.

Freshman Scott Shaw and redshirt freshmen Everett Ernst and Mike Connelly have an opportunity to run in the Tigers' top seven runners, while sophomore David Ahel and freshman Peter Lukens are making good strides to get in the top eight.

Pollock is looking for several middle distance runners to fill the void left by the departure of senior Davidson Gill, a five-time All-American for the Tigers. Senior Shaun Murphy and Connelly, who is a sophomore in track, will be the top middle distance runners for the Tigers this season and will compete in the 800m. Connelly ran the lead-off leg of the distance medley relay indoors last season, and Murphy ran on the 4x400m team at times. Sophomore Ryan Demers will compete in the mile and 3000m, after placing seventh in the mile at the ACC Indoor Championships last season.

Two freshmen will complete Clemson's middle distance group. Marcus Hodge of Spartanburg, SC, was the National Junior Olympic Champion in the 800m at 1:52.74. He also has experience running the 2000m steeplechase, but Pollock believes he will be an 800m to 1500m runner for the Tigers. Garrick Copes of Fort Belvoir, VA, had the second-fastest time in the country in the 500m indoors last year. He will compete in the 400m and 800m this season. Sophomore Ato Modibo, the defending indoor national champion in the 400m with a time of 46.11, is expected to lead Clemson's sprinters again this season. Modibo was chosen ACC Freshman of the Year Indoors and Outdoors last season after winning the 400m at both league championship meets.

Modibo and Charles Allen return off the Tigers'

4x400m relay team that won the national championship with a time of 3:07.80 at last year's NCAA Indoor meet. Allen, a senior, will compete in the 100m and 200m and on Clemson's 4x100m and 4x400m relay teams.

Seven-time All-American Shawn Crawford, the 1998 indoor national champion in the 200m, returns in the sprints and relays, as well as sophomore Anthony Moorman.

Pollock is looking for freshmen David Collins and Otto Spain to step into the position vacated by senior sprinter Kenny Franklin.

Collins, of Philadelphia, PA, won state championships in the 100m (10.62) and 200m (21.44) as a high school senior last year. Spain, of Columbia, SC, was the state champion with a time of 10.33 in the 100m and has a personal-best of 21.46 in the 200m.

Junior All-American Sultan Tucker returns in the 60m and 110m hurdles. Tucker won the ACC Championship in both events last season and qualified for the national championships during the indoor and outdoor seasons. "Tucker is complemented very well by sophomore Todd Matthews," said Pollock. Matthews placed third with a time of 7.91 in the 60m hurdles at the ACC indoor meet last season and was second at 13.88 in the 110m hurdles at the league outdoor championships. He ran NCAA provisional times in both events as a freshman.

Sophomore Ian Potter joined the team in January last year. He placed sixth with a time of 14.29 in the 110m hurdles at the outdoor meet.

Junior Tony Washington will compete in the 400m hurdles and the sprints for the Tigers. "Washington also will run a leg of either the distance medley relay or the 4x400m," said Pollock. Decathlete Mark Jellison will complete the Clemson high hurdle group and will run on the Tigers' shuttle hurdle relay team.

Sophomore Doug Ameigh returns in the high jump after winning the ACC indoor (7'1½") and outdoor championships (7'1") and reaching an NCAA provisional mark as a freshman last year. Senior Bryan Williams also returns in the event after placing third indoors with a mark of 6'10" and second outdoors after clearing 7'1" on a later jump than Ameigh. The two are complemented by sophomore Mark Mirabito, who placed fourth at both the ACC Indoor and Outdoor Championships last year.

Kevin Wald and Tony Lloyd are expected to provide depth in the high jump for the Tigers, as well as freshmen Malcolm Reynolds of Lexington Park, MD, the state champion who has cleared 6'10", and Grant Jones of Gahanna, OH, who has a personal-best of 6'8".

Sophomore Kai Maull returns in the long and triple jump. He was the only freshman All-American in the long jump competition at last year's NCAA Outdoor Championship after recording a mark of 25'7¼". Lloyd and Williams also return in the long jump for the Tigers, and Matthews and Jellison, who have each jumped over 24' in the long jump, will provide additional depth for the team in the event.

Williams, a senior, is the leading returner in the triple jump. He won the ACC Indoor Championship and set a Clemson record with a mark of 52'5" to qualify for the national championships last season. Lloyd placed third at the conference indoor meet at 50'¾" and eighth outdoors, while Maull placed fifth at the conference outdoor meet with a jump of 48'4".

Clemson has added more depth in the pole vault this season. Junior Ben Hess is the top returning vaulter after placing fourth at both the conference indoor and outdoor meets last season and recording a personal-best of 16'6¾". Hess will be joined by two transfers. Ryan Lewis, a transfer from Western Carolina who has cleared 16'4¾", was the 1999 Southern Conference champion and a Junior National All-American in the event. Matt Kennedy is a transfer from East Tennessee State who has cleared 15'6". Freshman Adam Klotzback, the Ohio state runner-up with a vault of 15' and junior Bobby Latham will provide additional depth for the team in the event.

The Clemson throwers will be a young group, led by sophomore Keith Rzewuski. "Rzewuski did a great job last year as a freshman," said Pollock. "He did a good job last year in the outdoor hammer, discus and shot, and did the same thing indoors."

Brett Varner and Jason Moss return after redshirting last year.

Junior Rob VanWagenin returns for the team in the javelin and will add depth in the throws. Freshman David Schenek of Marietta, GA, was a high school All-American in the discus at 175'4" and also in the 25 lb. weight indoors. Last season he ranked 10th in the country with a throw of 194'10" in the hammer. Matt Lombardi of Seekonk, MA, was the state runner up in both the shot and discus last year.

Sophomore Mark Jellison was the runner up with 6620 points in the decathlon at the ACC Outdoor Championships as a freshman last season. "This season he is much more mature, more developed, has more knowledge of the events," said Pollock.

Senior Ron Kennedy placed fifth with 6045 points at last year's conference championships. Andy Giesler, a transfer from Wheeling Jesuit (WV), scored 6995 points in the decathlon last season. "These athletes, along with freshman Rick Hill will give us good depth in the decathlon this season," said Pollock. "Hill has shown us he has the potential to contribute in the decathlon."

Pollock believes the team has added more depth and quality this season into every event, from the sprints to the distance events, from the jumps to the throws. "Hopefully, these athletes will develop like our freshmen did last year and be able to rise to the occasion to compete not only in the ACC, but on a national level, too," he said.

(L to R) Ato Modibo, Davidson Gill, Kenny Franklin, and Charles Allen were all members of Clemson's NCAA Indoor 4x400 Relay Championship team.

Women's Track & Field

by Julie Paré

The 1999-2000 season will be a season of new beginnings for the Clemson women's track and field programs. Ralph White, in his first season as the head coach of the Tigers', believes Clemson's 1999 ACC Outdoor Championship is just a stepping stone for the future.

"The best is yet to come," said White. "We are looking into all of our options to develop the program, to maximize what we can get out of this year and build a solid foundation for down the road."

Clemson ended North Carolina's string of seven consecutive conference outdoor crowns last season, giving the Tigers their second ACC Outdoor Championship.

The cross country program is under the direction of a new distance coach, Luiz de Oliveira. de Oliveira has over 20 years of experience coaching track and field athletes and has served as the head coach for the Brazilian Olympic team at the last four Olympic Games. He was an assistant coach at the University of Oregon for two years and has coached Nike's Club team, Athletic West, where he trained world-class distance runners.

"Luiz is known throughout the world," said White. "A lot of outstanding athletes have trained with him, including Mary Decker and Joaquim Cruz, and all have improved under him."

Three seniors will lead the cross country and distance runners this season. Beth Ahern earned All-ACC and All-Southeast Region honors last year after leading the team to a fourth-place finish at the conference meet and an eighth-place finish at the region meet. Erika van Reenen and Anne Stowell have been consistently among the Tigers' top distance runners so far this year. Ahern and van Reenen will compete in the 5000m and 1000m during the indoor and outdoor seasons, and Stowell will run several events from the 1500m to 5000m.

Junior Shannon Schoppman returns this season after some time off. Besides competing during the cross country season, White believes she will do an outstanding job for the Tigers in the 1500m and the 3000m.

Junior Jennifer Meador and sophomore Abbey Hartman complete the returning distance runners. Meador can compete in each event from the 800m to the 3000m, and White believes Hartman is one of the most improved runners on the cross country squad.

Freshmen Diane Schillow and Stephanie Zabel will add depth to the distance group this season. Perry Fields, a transfer from Appalachian State, will redshirt this season.

White has seen a lot of enthusiasm from the cross country team this season. "I think we will surprise some people," he said. "We want to get Clemson cross country to where it is capable of being and where it has once been. Former head coach Wayne Coffman had some outstanding teams here at Clemson."

The sprints and hurdles group will be the strength of the Clemson program this season. The Tigers' return several quality sprinters, including five-time All-American senior Shekera Weston, who won the 200m and 400m at the ACC Indoor Championships. Weston placed ninth with a time of 54.23 in the 400m at the indoor national championships and was seventh with a time of 23.23 in the 200m at the NCAA Outdoor Championships.

Three juniors return in the sprint events. Terri Robinson will compete in the 100m and 200m for the Tigers. She finished fifth in the 60m dash with a time of 7.61 at last year's ACC Indoor Championships. LaShonda Cutchin and Simone Brown, along with Weston, return off Clemson's 4x100m relay team that placed seventh at the NCAA Outdoor Championships last season. Cutchin will run the 200m and 400m this season, after placing ninth in the 200m (24.02) and fifth in the 400m (55.41) at last year's conference outdoor meet. Brown will compete in several sprint and relay events this season.

Freshmen Shannon Murray and Marcia Smith should have an immediate impact on the Tiger relay teams. Murray was a three-time state, region and county champion in the 100m and 200m at Columbia High. Smith won the state championship in the 400m two consecutive seasons at Stephenson High. She set the state record of 54.84 in the 400m and was a member of the 4x400m relay team that set the state record of 3:49.66.

Sprinters Cedone Mothersill, a Pan Am finalists and Michelle Burgher, two transfers from George Mason will be redshirting this season.

Sophomore Kyana Elder returns in the hurdle events after finishing fifth in the 60m hurdles and sixth in the 100m hurdles at last year's conference meets. She will compete in the high hurdles and possibly on a Clemson relay team this season.

Nyjala Littlejohn, a transfer from George Mason, will compete in all the hurdle events this season. Littlejohn specializes in the 400m hurdles.

Jackie Hoover is in her first season coaching the Clemson field athletes. Hoover, a heptathlete from Allegheny, comes to Clemson from the College of New Jersey, where she has served as an assistant coach the last two years. "Jackie relates well to athletes because of her youth," said White. "Because she was a heptathlete, she has been exposed to all of the events."

Junior Jamine Moton was a key figure in the Tigers' ACC Outdoor Championship last season. She won the shot put with a throw of 50'3" and the discus with a mark of 163'5" and placed second in the hammer with a throw of 178'2" at the conference meet. During the indoor season, Moton, who is also a member of the Clemson women's basketball team, won the shot put (49'1") at the ACC Championships and placed 18th at the NCAA Championships.

Senior Kammie Blount placed third with a throw of 141'9" in the javelin competition at the ACC Outdoor Championships last season. "We have quality throwers, but we are hurting in quantity," said White. "This is an area we hope to revitalize."

Robinson is the top returner in the jumps. As a sophomore last season, she finished fifth in the long jump with a mark of 19'11" at the ACC outdoor meet and was seventh with a jump of 19'0" in the event at the conference indoor meet. Robinson finished 12th in the long jump at the 1999 NCAA Indoor Championships, jumping 19'4".

Sophomore Sheri Smith finished seventh in the long jump at 19'4" and eighth in the triple jump with a mark of 39'7" at last season's ACC outdoor meet. Andrea Gaines, also a member of the Clemson women's basketball team, placed ninth in the triple jump (39'1"). All should have an impact this year, as well as Brown, who was a long jumper in high school.

In the high jump, freshman Laura Nicholson of Marietta, GA, is expected to lead the team. The region MVP, Nicholson set a school record of 5'6" in the high jump last season at Marietta High.

Junior Mandy McLane only competed in the high jump at one meet last year - the ACC Outdoor Championships. At the meet, McLane placed fifth with a jump of 5'5".

McLane is the top returning pole vaulter in the ACC. She placed second at the indoor meet with a vault of 11'6", then placed second with a mark of 11'3" at the outdoor meet. McLane will be joined by freshman Sarah Ellis of Florence, SC, who placed seventh in the event at the national high school meet last summer.

McLane is training to compete in the heptathlon, and several other Tigers are looking to compete in the multi-events.

White intends to make the Clemson women's track and field program a model program on and off the track and in the classroom. He is building for the future and preparing to get the program back to the level where it used to be.

"We're looking forward to running against the top teams in the country," he said. "Everyone on the team is extremely dedicated and enthusiastic about our future."

Jamie Moton won the ACC shot put championship and finished 23rd nationally in the event.

Top 25 Clemson Players of the Century

by Tim Bourret

This past summer we asked 28 former Clemson players, coaches, administrators and fans to select their top 25 Clemson football players of the 20th Century. All of the panel members have followed Clemson football for at least 20 years and some for over 50 years. A first place vote received 25 points, second-place vote 24 points, and so on.

Each home football program we will announce five new players, in descending order. Today we announce players 11-15.

#15 Bobby Gage (1945-48)

Bobby Gage was one of the finest all-around football players in Clemson history. He played in the two-platoon era and he really had an effect on three platoons because he changed the course of games with his punt and kickoff returns.

A close look to his statistics in 1948 reveals a season in which he had a 100-yard rushing game (12-104 vs. Furman), a 172-yard passing game (against Mississippi State), a two-interception game on defense (also against Mississippi State) and a 100-yard punt return game (101 on three returns against NC State). His 90-yard punt return in that game proved to be the game winner and is still the longest punt return by a Clemson player in the history of Death Valley.

Gage was the true triple threat football player of the 1940s. He ended his career with 35 touchdowns, eight on rushes, 24 touchdown passes, one via punt return, one via kickoff return and even one on a reception. He still ranks in the top 10 in Clemson history in total offense and interceptions defensively. That is success on both sides of the ball, something you don't see today.

For his accomplishments in 1948, Gage was named a first-team All-American. He was a first-round draft choice of the Pittsburgh Steelers after the season. There were many great men on Clemson's 1948 team that posted a perfect 11-0 record, the first perfect season at Clemson in 48 seasons. But, Gage might have been the top all-around player and senior leader. He had the stats to back it up.

#14 Perry Tuttle (1978-81)

Our 14th greatest Clemson football player of the 20th century is still omnipresent at Clemson football home games today. Perry Tuttle has been around the Tiger program for over 20 years as a player, supporter and now a broadcaster on the Tiger Tailgate Show.

His accomplishments on the field as an All-American receiver in 1981 were electrifying. He averaged 17 yards a reception on 52 catches during that National Championship season and scored eight touchdowns. He ranked in the top 30 in the nation in receiving that year, quite an accomplishment in Danny Ford's run-oriented offense.

He saved one of his greatest moments for his last game. He caught five passes for 56 yards in the 22-

15 victory over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl, including a 13-yard scoring pass from Homer Jordan (another of our top 25 greatest players). His ensuing celebration was captured on the cover of Sports Illustrated and he remains the only current Clemson athlete in history to be featured on the cover of the world's most famous sports publication.

Tuttle finished his career with 150 receptions for over 2500 yards, still second in school history in both areas. He was the #19 selection of the entire NFL draft by the Buffalo Bills in the spring of 1982 and played many years in the NFL and the CFL. In fact, a year after he was named to Clemson's Centennial Team, he was inducted into the Winnipeg Blue Bombers Hall of Fame.

#13 Bennie Cunningham (1972-75)

Bennie Cunningham remains the most decorated tight end in Clemson history. A native of near-by Seneca, SC, Cunningham was a two-time first-team All-American at Clemson in 1974 and 1975, one of just 12 multi-year All-Americans in school history.

Cunningham was a pro scout's dream. At 6-5 and 250 pounds, he could run like a deer, yet run over the opposition in heavy traffic. In addition to his great hands and quickness, he was a devastating blocker. Cunningham first came on the scene in 1973 when he started all 11 games and caught 22 passes for 341 yards. He also averaged 6.6 yards a rush on 11 carries as a runner.

In 1974 Clemson's season long slogan was "Excitement Galore in '74". Cunningham did his part in the 7-4 season that included a perfect 6-0 home record, with seven touchdown receptions among his 24 catches, the most touchdown receptions ever by a Clemson tight end and one of the top five totals nationally that season for tight ends. Cunningham was named a first-team AP All-American that season.

The Tigers stumbled a bit in 1975 with a young offense, but Cunningham still averaged 17-yards a catch, an incredible average for a tight end. After the season he was named a first-team All-American by Sporting News for the second straight year, then was a first-round draft choice of the Pittsburgh Steelers, still the only Clemson tight end in history to be a first-round draft choice.

Cunningham might have had an even better NFL career. He caught over 200 passes for the Steelers in his 10-year NFL career and was a starter on two Super Bowl Championship teams.

#12 Donnell Woolford (1985-88)

Clemson was the fifth winningest team in college football in the 1980s and one of the reasons was the play of two-time All-American Donnell Woolford, our 12th greatest Tiger gragger of the 20th century. Woolford was the mainstay of a Clemson defense that helped the Tigers to a 28-6-2 record from 1986-88, an era in which Clemson won the ACC Championship every year.

Woolford was a defensive back who might be regarded as the best modern day cover corner in school history. In 1987, Woolford had five interceptions with no interception return yards. Why no yards? All his interceptions were diving grabs while he was blanketing the opposition. His interception total dropped to one during his senior year because rarely did the opposition throw in his direction. No receiver he was assigned to cover caught more than two passes in any game during the 1988 season.

In addition to his job patrolling the secondary, Woolford was one of the top punt returners in the country. He averaged 15 yards a return in 1987, third best in the nation. He had a pair of opponent back breaking punt returns for touchdowns that year, one against Georgia Tech and one against Wake Forest. Woolford may best be remembered for his performance in the final game of his career. Playing against Oklahoma's famed Wishbone Offense, Woolford was moved to a roverback position by Clemson defensive coordinator Bill Oliver. It was his job to disrupt the attack, which he did. Oklahoma failed to score a touchdown in a game for just the second time in the decade of the 1980s.

A first-round draft choice of the Chicago Bears, Woolford started for the Bears from 1989-96 and for the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1997. He earned a berth in the Pro Bowl in 1993.

#11 Joe Bostic (1975-78)

A rebirth of Clemson football took place in 1977. The Tigers had not gone to a bowl game in 18 years prior to that season. But, a group of veteran players who had suffered through a 2-9 1975 season as freshmen, picked up the Clemson program by the bootstraps.

One of the leaders of that class and the resurgence was offensive tackle Joe Bostic. Charley Pell and Danny Ford used the running game as the staple of the offense and many of the big first downs and long runs of 1977 and 1978 were plays that started with a strong block from Bostic.

A four-year starter, Bostic became a two-year All-American and recipient of the state of South Carolina's Jacob Blocking Trophy in 1977 and 1978. He won the same award for the ACC in 1977. He was a five-time honoree as the ACC Offensive Lineman of the Week over his career.

While the accomplishments of the 1977 team were significant, the 1978 team, Bostic's senior year, reached another level. Bostic along with younger brother Jeff, also a member of our top 25 list, led the Tigers to an 11-1 record, a number-six final Associated Press ranking and an ACC Championship. The season, and Bostic's Clemson career, culminated with a 17-15 win over Ohio State in the Gator Bowl.

After appearances in various college all-star games, Bostic was chosen in the third round of the NFL draft by the St. Louis Cardinals. He was chosen to the 1979 NFL All-Rookie team and played 10 seasons overall with the Cardinals organization.
